

'Nixon Making Farce of Probe'...Jaworski

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Embarking on the same course that cost his predecessor his job and first triggered talk of impeachment, Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski has challenged President Nixon's right to dictate what Watergate evidence will be surrendered for criminal prosecutions.

Immediately after a federal judge Monday sided with him and ordered Nixon to comply with a prosecution subpoena, Jaworski filed a formal complaint with the Senate Judiciary Committee charging that Nixon was making "a farce" of the Watergate probe by reneging on his promise of cooperation.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of the committee, promptly called an emergency meeting for later today to consider what one Republican member called the "dangerous developments."

That senator, Charles Mathias of Maryland, said it was "inexcusable" for Nixon to try to tamper with Jaworski's independence.

"It is a sham to expect Mr. Jaworski to do the job to which he was appointed and at the same time restrict his access to the evidence he thinks he needs," Mathias said.

Both Jaworski and Nixon's chief Watergate lawyer, James D. St. Clair, were invited to attend the closed committee session.

The confrontation was triggered by the President's refusal to surrender under subpoena tapes and other material on 64 Watergate-related discussions that Jaworski insists are vital for the upcoming trial of seven former top Nixon aides charged with plotting to hush up the bugging scandal.

U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica denied Nixon's motion to quash that subpoena in blunt terms: "His attempt to abridge the special prosecutor's independence with the argument he cannot seek evidence from the President by court process is a nullity."

First in a legal brief unsealed by Sirica and then in his letter to the Senate committee, Jaworski revealed that St. Clair had argued in secret to the court last week that the prosecutor had no right to sue the President because, in effect, Nixon is Jaworski's boss.

"The crucial point is that the President, through his counsel, is challenging my right to bring an action against him to obtain evidence, or differently stated, he contends that I cannot take the President to court," Jaworski wrote Eastland and other members of the committee.

"Acceptance of his contention would sharply limit the independence that I consider essential if I am to fulfill my responsibilities as contemplated by the charter establishing this office..."

Jaworski wrote the committee because when he took the job last fall, he promised to let the senators know if the President attempted "to circumvent or restrict or limit" the Watergate investigation.

He had done so once before — on Feb. 14 — when Nixon refused to give up a batch of evidence for a grand jury. Jaworski subsequently subpoenaed the materials, and Nixon ultimately complied at the last minute on March 29 without a court battle.

Both in his court brief and in the letter to Eastland, Jaworski cited Nixon's own public pledges of cooperation and a private assurance he had from White House Chief of Staff Alexander M. Haig after consultation with the President that he would be free to go to court to seek White House evidence if necessary.

Last Oct. 20, Nixon had the original Watergate prosecutor, Archibald Cox, fired after he won two court orders commanding the President to surrender nine subpoenaed tapes and refused Nixon's orders not to pursue the case.

It was following that weekend and the public uproar it touched off that impeachment of the President was first seriously discussed.

The "Saturday night massacre" that saw the departure of Cox, Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson and Deputy Attorney General William D. Ruckelshaus was very much on the minds of aides to Senate Judiciary committee members Monday night.

Sirica, following the pattern he set in the tapes case last fall, ordered Nixon to surrender the materials to him for screening by May 31. But he stayed the order until Friday to give Nixon time to appeal. A White House spokesman said the decision would be appealed but had no further comment.

The White House had earlier indicated a willingness to fight the subpoena all the way to the Supreme Court if necessary. Pursuing his theme of "one year of Watergate is enough," the President has contended in recent weeks that he has already given Jaworski everything he needs to prosecute his cases.

Meanwhile, Vice President Gerald R. Ford said today he thinks the Supreme Court will ultimately decide if Jaworski will receive 64 taped presidential conversations subpoenaed last month.

In an exclusive interview this morning, Ford also said he thinks it more important for President Nixon to cooperate with the House Judiciary Committee than with Jaworski.

Ford said he has always advised the White House to cooperate, but, "It is more important to cooperate with the House Judiciary Committee than with Jaworski since the committee is considering impeachment."

Ford spoke with UPI on a flight back to the capital from Tacoma, Wash., where he addressed a state GOP fundraising dinner Monday night.

Revolutionary War Returns to Kingston... For One Weekend

KINGSTON — For several hours Saturday and Sunday, the Revolutionary War returned to Kingston. Foot soldiers dressed in traditional Colonial garb shouldered muskets and ringed the field of battle. The King's Army, in bright scarlet tunics and spottless white pantaloons, formed an unwavering line to face the Yankee marksmen.

The two armies maneuvered for position; the crackling of musket fire bounced from nearby hills and buildings. Suddenly, the Americans charged. The British retreated in confusion and disarray, leaving dead and wounded sprawled on the grassy slopes of Forsyth Park.

The mock battle was performed by members of the Brigade of the American Revolution, a collection of amateur and professional historians from throughout the Northeast and South, who have recreated, to the smallest detail, the props and artifacts of the two warring 18th century armies.

In between drills and tactical maneuvers, Brigade members and their wives conducted arts and crafts demonstrations from the Colonial period.

The weekend program was sponsored by the state and city Bicentennial Commissions, as well as the local Stockade Committee.

Magruder: 10 Month Sentence

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Jeb Stuart Magruder, 39, who was No. 2 official in President Nixon's 1972 re-election organization, was sentenced by Judge John J. Sirica today to a minimum of 10 months in a federal minimum security institution for his part in the Watergate case.

"My ambition obscured my judgment," Magruder said in a statement that he read as he stood before Sirica prior to sentencing for his plea of guilty to a single count of conspiracy.

Magruder said that in the months since he acknowledged his role in the Watergate, he had seen "confusion in the eyes of my children, heartbreak in the eyes of my wife, and contempt in the eyes of others."

Magruder admitted in Senate Watergate committee testimony last June 14 that he testified falsely before a grand jury in August, 1972, about what he knew of the background of the Watergate break-in, with the aim of cutting off suspicion of involvement at the level of G. Gordon Liddy.

Liddy, counsel for the Nixon re-election committee at the time of the burglary, subsequently was convicted as a key Watergate conspirator.

Sirica ordered Magruder to surrender June 4 and recommended he be assigned to a federal minimum security institution at Allenwood, Pa.

Magruder said in his statement that he was ambitious and "not without morals and ideals"—when he went to work for the administration as a White House aide at the outset of Nixon's first term.

"Somewhere between my ambition and my ideals I found myself on a path not intended for me by my parents, or my ethical instincts," he said. "My she was kidnapped, 'will be given the opportunity to surrender.'" Sullivan said. But he added solemnly: "If she opens fire on FBI agents or police, the fire will be returned."

Parents Plea for Fugitives to Surrender

LOS ANGELES (AP) — As lawmen continued their search for Patricia Hearst and William and Emily Harris, the distraught parents of the suspected Symbionese Liberation Army members pleaded with their children to surrender rather than face possible violent death.

With the memory of last Friday's flaming deaths of six SLA members vivid in her mind, Mrs. Betty Bunnell, Harris' mother, said: "All of us just said, 'You have only two choices open now: You may elect to die an equally horrible and totally useless death... Your other choice is to come forth and live.' He offered to meet her and take her to law officers."

And in Hillsborough, Calif., Catherine Hearst, mother of the 20-year-old coed whose kidnapping on Feb. 4 set off the series of events, said, "I hope she will give herself up and come home."

But there was no sign that Miss Hearst or the Harrises, a white couple, were about to give up voluntarily. And more than 100 local, state and federal law officers remained on full-time duty in search of the three, who are described as "armed and extremely dangerous" and possibly the last remnants of the small band of terrorists.

Law officers said their search for Miss Hearst and the Harrises was still centered in Southern California, although Los Angeles Police Cmdr. Pete Hegon declared, "If they've got any sense, they'd have left. Things are getting hot here."

The three are wanted on FBI complaints, filed Monday, for possession of automatic weapons, possession of a stolen car, and possession of a stolen car. The FBI said it concluded that Miss Hearst had joined the revolutionary clique which violently kidnapped her 3½ months ago after an 18-year-old youth identified her and the Harrises as the persons who kidnapped him for 12 hours and stole his truck in a getaway from a sporting goods store last Thursday. The FBI said it believed Miss Hearst fired 30 rounds of automatic rifle slugs into the store after Harris allegedly bungled an attempt to shoplift a 49-cent pair of socks.

William Sullivan, an FBI official in Los Angeles, said the bungled shoplifting started police into the rapid series of weekend developments in which they began to close in on the SLA for the first time. "If these people didn't make mistakes, it would be hard as hell to catch them," he said Monday.

Miss Hearst, who had been studying art history at the University of California and planning a summer wedding when she was kidnapped, "will be given the opportunity to surrender," Sullivan said. But he added solemnly: "If she opens fire on FBI agents or police, the fire will be returned."

'Minor Issues' Delay Disengagement

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger is making "good progress" at separating Israeli and Syrian forces on the Golan Heights and hopes to finish the job this week.

Kissinger turned his attention today to working out the details of a troop disengagement agreement after reaching a broad understanding between Israel and Syria on the crucial issue — the placement of a new truce line.

U.S. and Israeli spokesmen said, however, "minor issues" still must be resolved on the position of a cease-fire line on the embattled heights.

Kissinger set a heavy schedule for the 23rd day of his longest diplomatic mission in hopes of winding up the Israeli-Syrian negotiations this week.

He scheduled meetings with Israeli officials this morning before flying to Damascus in the afternoon for talks with Syrian leaders. He was to return to Jerusalem tonight for more discussions with Israeli officials.

A high American official said Kissinger would probably talk with Syrian leaders today about U.S. air surveillance of the Golan Heights to make sure the separation pact was carried out.

The Israeli-Egyptian troop disengagement pact, worked out last January by Kissinger, provided for American reconnaissance planes to check on the opposing armies in the Sinai Desert.

The high American official said Kissinger was unable to extend his mission beyond this weekend.

Kissinger reported "good progress" in talks with Syrian President Hafez Assad Monday about the remaining issues of a disengagement agreement. He then flew back to Israel and met with Prime Minister Golda Meir until well past midnight.

The remaining issues under negotiation were a buffer zone between the two forces, a thinning of troops on both sides and the duties of a United Nations peace-keeping team.

With final details being considered, U.S. officials gave out less and less information about the talks and refused to comment on most press speculation about the agreement.

Shooting broke out in a Damascus refugee camp Monday during a memorial procession for three Arab guerrillas killed last week in an attack against an Israeli village near the Lebanese border.

Westerners present said some of the demonstrators shouted against Kissinger's mission. Although the secretary was in Damascus, he was unaware of the protest at the time.

Meanwhile, the Middle East's shadowy war of terrorism heated up today, with Israel vowing a "daring offensive" to wipe out Palestinian guerrillas and Arab military chiefs warning against any new Israeli reprisals.

Israel and Syria exchanged artillery and tank fire on the Golan Heights today, keeping up their daily war of attrition.

Mrs. Meir, in a speech to parliament Monday, said her government would deal a death blow to Arab guerrillas such as the group that carried out a massacre in the tiny Israel village of Maalot last week.

In Cairo, the joint Arab Defense Council opened a two-day meeting Monday and immediately denounced Israel for the attacks against Lebanon.

Promises Affirmative Campaign

Bell to Seek Fourth Term in Assembly

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON — The not unexpected announcement that Ulster County Assemblyman H. Clark Bell (R-101st Dist.) will seek a fourth term in the State Legislature came today at a press conference at which Bell stated he "does not feel Watergate will have any significant impact on state and local governmental contests."

Pledging to wage an affirmative campaign, Bell, alluding to his former and present rival for his Assembly seat, Democrat-Liberal, Maurice Hinchey Jr., Bell said he "will not allow myself to be dragged down to the level of the campaign waged two years ago."

He said he does not intend to answer any of the charges already leveled at him by Hinchey saying that they have been "baseless." Referring to Hinchey's having "falsely misrepresented my voting record," Bell said, "the people have seen the quality of his (Hinchey's) integrity and they returned me to office."

Bell's announcement that he would seek reelection to the Assembly, put to rest once and for all the rumors that he was considering running for Congress in the 27th District.

The Woodstock assemblyman said that many friends urged him to seek the congressional seat being vacated by Rep. Howard W. Robison and that the choice has been "difficult."

In making his decision for the Assembly, Bell said he feels he can be more effective for Ulster County in that capacity.

Regarding the Watergate issue, Bell said "people are quick to differentiate between their state and local governments and national affairs. People ask me about school aid, real estate taxes, transportation aid, the death penalty and many other programs that affect them directly," Bell said.

"Almost all major programs affecting us in Ulster County come out of Albany and are paid for in great part by Albany through state aid and the people know this," he stated.

Bell also seized the occasion to announce that Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea will be the keynote speaker at a Bell Booster Dinner to be held Tuesday, May 28, at the Nevele Country Club in Ellenville, sponsored by the Citizens for Bell Committee.

Members of that committee headed by William H. Merrill, chairman, were on hand for the press conference. Supporters included Robert B. O'Reilly, secretary treasurer; James Thompson and Richard B. Mathews, also vice chairman of the dinner; City Temporary State Commission Republican Chairman Frank on Water Supply Needs for Fabbie and Republican Vice Chairman Edwin F. Callahan, chairman of the Pension and Retirement Legislation as well Joy, Assemblyman Bell told the gathering that the main thrust of his campaign will be "broad Select Committee on all laws and butter issues."

He said he affecting local governments, intends to run on the record he has built during the past blyman he wants to continue six years and the seniority he has accrued on key committees especially in the State Legislature, in-cluding the powerful Ways and Means Committee.

First elected to the Legislature in 1968, he also place it as "somewhere above holds positions on the Assembly

British Troops Reinforced

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — British officials brought more troops into Northern Ireland today and vowed to protect persons who return to work in defiance of a crippling general strike now in its seventh day.

The strike already has crimped power supplies and has virtually paralyzed commerce and industry in the British province.

A 15,500-man British force in Ulster was bolstered by 500 reinforcements from England in preparation for a showdown with militant Protestants manning 95 barricades across Belfast's major roads.

Moderate union leaders called on workers to assemble at two points in East Belfast to march under guard to jobs in two industrial areas, one a giant shipyard.

But Sammy Smyth, a Protestant extremist leader, told newsmen: "We will keep the barricades up until the country is on its knees."

One strike leader said, "We're not backing off another inch."

"The government is not seeking a confrontation, but if it is necessary to take action this will be done," the British secretary of state for Northern Ireland, Merlyn Rees, told parliament Monday.

Farmers dumped thousands of gallons of milk today for want of transport. The few bread stores open in the capital limited buyers to one small loaf. Fruits and vegetables lay rotting in closed grocery stores.

The strike leaders are opposed to an agreement signed last year by Britain, the Belfast government and Ireland to give Dublin a limited voice in Ulster affairs.

Many Protestants fear that the Council of Ireland which the three governments agreed to set up would be a move toward unity with the predominantly Roman Catholic republic to the south. The extremists called the strike last week to back demands that the proposed council be put to a vote in Ulster, where they are certain it would be defeated. They also want fresh elections to the national assembly in hopes a new assembly would withdraw from the pact. Britain says, however, the agreement is not negotiable. Terrorist violence reappeared in Belfast, where the body of an unidentified man who had been shot was found near Shaw's Bridge, a regular dumping ground for the victims of assassinations during almost five years of sectarian killing. A bomb wrecked the home of a vacationing Catholic family in Bangor, northeast of Belfast.

Another bomb wrecked seven stores in Castleberg, a rural market town. In Dublin, the death toll from last Friday's bombing incidents rose to 30 Monday when a 20-year-old woman died of her wounds.

Immigration Service Rapped

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Elizabeth Holtzman, D-N.Y., says there has been a lack of "aggressive action" on the part of immigration officials in their investigation of 73 alleged Nazi war criminals living in the U.S.

She told a news conference Monday the immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) was "spinning wheels" in its efforts to verify the identities and residences of the alleged war criminals as a means of extraditing them for prosecution.

In the past 25 years the United States has become a haven for war criminals, she said, adding reports indicate that "some of these people are apparently living very comfortable lives" in Chicago, Los Angeles, Philadelphia, Detroit, Long Island and Greenlawn, N.Y.

She said she is distressed at the lack of progress since last August when the administration announced an investigation of Nazi war criminals.

"Since that time, she said, the INS has failed to contact West German officials for information on individuals believed living in the United States who are the subjects of their warrants. Nor has the agency contacted other foreign governments where crimes and atrocities allegedly were committed, she said.

In a letter to INS Commissioner Leonard Chapman, she demanded immediate action including:

—Immediate deportation of Andrija Artukovic, interior minister of Croatia under the Nazis, who is accused of signing deportation orders for "untold thousands of Jews, gypsies and Serbs to death camps with actual participation in mass murders." She said Artukovic has been under deportation orders in the United States since 1953, but a stay issued in 1959 is still in effect for no apparent reason. He is believed living in Los Angeles. —Initiation of action against Joseph Matukas and other war criminals wanted by the West German government. Matukas, the former deputy police chief in Kovno, Lithuania, allegedly shot to death a Jewish school teacher. He is living as a naturalized U.S. citizen in Chicago.

—Review of evidence in the cases of Bishop Valerian Trifa and Boleslavs Maikovskis to determine whether sufficient information already exists to warrant deportation or extradition. Maikovskis was sentenced to death in absentia in Latvia for the extermination of Jews and gypsies. He is believed living in Mineola, N.Y. Trifa is alleged to have committed atrocities as a member of the Iron Guard and is believed living in the Detroit vicinity.

Ted...$217,844 in Taxes

BOSTON (UPI) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy D-Mass., a member of one of the nation's richest families, had an income of $461,444 last year and paid $217,844 in taxes, according to his 1973 tax returns.

Kennedy gave the Boston Globe a copy of his 1973 tax return but declined to divulge the net worth of his personal fortune.

All but $43,540 of the income came from family trust funds which total approximately $8.6 million, the Globe said. Senators make $42,500 a year.

"Although a long time foe of special treatment for the oil industry, the return shows the senator has a minor interest in the Forest Oil Co. which brought him $3,507.85 last year on four leases," the article said.

Kennedy took a $765.24 deduction from this income because of the oil depletion allowance, a tax incentive for oil speculators which he has long opposed, but which is still in effect. In addition to his federal income taxes, Kennedy also paid $8,180.55 taxes on his McLean, Va., home and $3,890 on his summer residence in Hyannis Port, Mass. He also paid $20,434 on his home mortgage and $3,890 on a chattel mortgage on his 50-foot sailboat.

Kennedy made his return public at the request of his newspaper. He declined to issue a statement on his worth "since that action might jeopardize the privacy of other family members."

He said, however, he would expect the family to understand if he made such a disclosure in a bid for national office, the article said.

The Globe said $340,327 of Kennedy's 1973 income came from two trust funds set up for him by his father, the late Joseph P. Kennedy. He also received $77,577 from trust funds set up for his brother, Joseph P. Kennedy Jr., and his sister, Kathleen Harrington, in both of whom died leaving no children.

In addition to his Senate salary, the return showed Kennedy also made $3,355 from magazine articles and speeches. Kennedy spent $36,069 for "business purposes out of his own pocket" and donated $4,678 to "charities and other deductible agencies," the article said.

"The return showed Kennedy to be a less-than-successful landlord," the Globe said. "He rented his Boston townhouse, at 3 Charles River Square, last year with a net loss of $2,412, according to the tax figures."

Property in Madison, Wis., was rented with a loss of $1,526.

Four Teenagers Honored For Life-Saving Rescue

NEW YORK (AP) — More than one year ago, four Brooklyn teenagers jumped to the tracks and lifted an unconscious man out of the path of an oncoming subway train.

Their life-saving act went unnoticed until last month when a city judge, a friend of the family of one of the boys, brought it to the attention of city officials.

On Monday, all four youths received bronze medals, the city's Civilian Commendation, from Mayor Abraham D. Beame for "extraordinary heroism."

The mayor also promised them summer jobs, a fitting reward since the four had spent the morning of the day of the incident, May 1, 1973, looking unsuccessfully for summer employment.

As they were returning home on that date, standing at the back end of a subway platform in Brooklyn, they saw a 27-year-old man fall to the tracks and hit his head on the rail.

"He was out cold and bleeding," Richard Groler, 18, recalled. "A lady screamed, 'A train is coming,' and I looked up and saw the train coming around a curve. We lifted him to the platform, then jumped to too, about five seconds before the train roared into the station."

Cited with Groler, a freshman at Polytechnic Institute, were John Walsh, 18, a freshman at St. John's University; Joseph Greer, 18, a high school senior and Daniel Gross, 16, a high school junior.

The rescued man, identified by police as John Tizzano, 27, of Brooklyn, was taken to a hospital after being saved. He was released after treatment for lacerations of the forehead.

Two Controversies In Bronx School

NEW YORK (AP) — A local school district in the Bronx was embroiled today in two controversies — published allegations that students at a junior high school were disciplined with beatings and paddlings, and charges by the state controller that a former district administrator wasted large amounts of money.

The paddling controversy became public Monday, when the New York Times reported that two hefty male deans had been accused of using a paddle and other forms of beatings to discipline students at Jordan L. Mott Junior High School in the Morrisania section. The deans, John Mathis and Oscar Smith, denied the reports, as did the school's acting principal, William E. Green. The Times said it learned of the allegations through Irving Sandrof, 41, a guidance counselor at the school who said he went to the Times with his story after complaints to school authorities yielded no action.

Sandrof brought with him a 2½ foot board which he said had become known as "the smoker." A student explained the name by saying "After you get hit with it, your behind smokes."

Harlem Building Is Dedicated

NEW YORK (UPI) — A $36 million, 20-story state office building, once the object of bitter protest by some Harlem residents, was hailed Monday as "an economic shot in the arm" for the black community.

At dedication ceremonies attended by more than 500 government officials and on-lookers in the outside mall of the building at 125th Street and Seventh Avenue, Gov. Malcolm Wilson called the project "a monument to the state's confidence in the future of Harlem."

As a mark of that confidence, Wilson said his administration had set aside $2 million "to finance the start of a massive redevelopment program in Harlem under the auspices of the Harlem Urban Development Corp."

Mayor Abraham D. Beame said the new state building — which will house 20 government agencies and 600 employees — would be "an economic shot in the arm for Harlem."

Sources close to the mayor said Beame would submit a bill to the City Council providing a matching $2 million in economic aid to Harlem.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market steadied today, attempting to end a four-session losing streak.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was fractionally lower, but gainers took a narrow lead over losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said high costs of borrowing, as reflected by a record high prime lending rate, continued to keep investors cautious.

As the market opened the government reported the rise of consumer prices slowed in April, with food prices actually declining.

The Labor Department's consumer price index rose during the month at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 7.2 percent—compared with a 13.2 percent annual rate in March.

Prices on the Big Board included Federal National Mortgage, down 1/4 at 14 1/4; Kimberly-Clark, down 1/4 at 29 1/4; Central Soya, up 1/4 at 15 1/4; and Mead Corp., down 1/4 at 16.

In Monday's trading the Dow Jones industrial average dropped back from an early gain to finish with a 6.42-point loss at 812.42.

QUARTER CENTURY OF SERVICE — Four members of Rosendale Grange No. 1501 were awarded 25-year pins and certificates at a recent dinner meeting of the organization. Ulster County Grange Deputy William Benson (L) presents certificates to Jerome Mack, Ethel Mack, Helene Mollenhauer and George Mollenhauer. Sharpest Food Price Drop Reported in Seven Years biggest drop in retail food declined, nonfood commodities prices in seven years helped jumped an adjusted 1.1 per cent slow the nation's inflationary cent and an unadjusted 1.3 per cent increase in April to about half cent in April while services in the level in each of the pre-creased an unadjusted six-tenths of one per cent, the government said today.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The However, while food prices continued to increase last month but at the slowest rate since last October at the start of the Arab oil embargo.

The Labor Department said Nixon administration officials have said food prices increases April rose six-tenths of one per cent on both an unadjusted and seasonally adjusted basis.

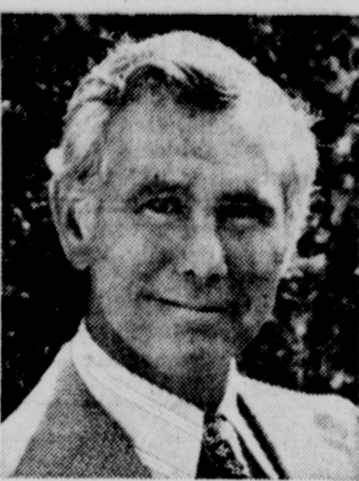

The increase was the smallest since last September and compared with increases of 1.1 per cent in March, 1.2 per cent in February and 1.1 per cent in January.

Despite the sharp drop in food prices, rapid price hikes on most nonfood commodities continued to spread across the economy in April.

The Food Price Index dropped an adjusted four-tenths of one per cent in April, the first decline since September and the biggest drop since it also fell four-tenths of a per cent in April 1967. Grocery prices alone fell an adjusted seven-tenths of one per cent, the most in any month since a drop of nine-tenths of one per cent last September.

Meters Out In Ellenville

ELLENVILLE

After a good deal of controversy and public discussion on the matter, the Ellenville Village Board by a split 3-2 vote decided Monday night that it would not meter its parking lots.

The public hearing at the village hall drew a large crowd with both sides well represented although Mayor Robert Dowling, who wound upon the losing side with Trustee Bernard Weiner, said most of the people were in favor of metering. "So, we won't have any metered parking lots for the time being," Dowling concluded.

The board took action on two other matters, one almost as controversial as the parking meters, the charging of $100 for sprinkler system hookups to the water system. That ordinance, after much protest from the business community, was rescinded by a 4-1 vote.

The vote was unanimous to rezone a parcel of land on Main Street from residential to commercial owned by the Ellenville Savings Bank.

And, the board voted unanimously to sign a two-year contract with the Ellenville Street Department. The contract begins June 1 and calls for a 35-cent hourly salary increase the first year and a 40-cent increase the second year.

Jury Selection Underway

KINGSTON — Jury selection began Monday in Ulster County Court in the murder trial of a 21-year-old Newburgh man, charged in the stabbing death of a 64-year-old Newburgh taxicab driver, August 28, 1973 in Marlboro.

George Carter of 31 East Parmenter Street, Newburgh, was indicted on the murder charge by the Ulster County Grand Jury on Oct. 18, 1973.

Carter surrendered to a Newburgh detective on Sept. 1 following an intense manhunt within the Hill City.

According to police, Carter and a 15-year-old youth were arrested and accused of the alleged robbery-murder of Edward Pascoe, a part-time taxi driver for the Newburgh Taxi Company for 12 years.

Police said that Carter and the youth entered Pascoe's cab shortly after noon on Aug. 28 and ordered the cabbie to drive them to the nearby Balmville School. The suspects then allegedly commandeered the cab and forced Pascoe to drive to a wooded area in Marlboro where they allegedly robbed the man of "about $60" and slashed his throat, according to police reports.

Mental Health Assn. Situation Explained

KINGSTON — An article in the Friday, May 17, edition of The Daily Freeman was incorrect in stating that the Ulster County Mental Health Association was being sued in connection with the Sept. 24, 1970, axe murder of Howard Grimm of New Paltz by Henry Baddoo.

"The Ulster County Association for Mental Health is a lay organization which promotes mental health education and various projects. We are in no way involved with treatment," said Dr. Frederick Holcomb Jr., a member of the association's Board of Directors.

A law suit, a $350,000 claim of "wrongful death" in the murder of Mr. Grimm, is being filed by his estate against the Ulster County Mental Health Clinic, an agency of the Ulster County government.

Baddoo, who was deported to Ghana, his homeland, on Thursday, was ruled "completely and utterly insane." The suit against the county notes that he had been under treatment at the Ulster County Mental Health Clinic and contends Baddoo should have been committed. Action is pending on the suit.

The Ulster County Association for Mental Health is not connected with the Ulster County government. It is a United Way Agency which conducts such public education programs as the recent seminar on the battered child syndrome.

Funds for Programs Cited by Schermerhorn

ALBANY — Ulster County is receiving $247,000 in 1974 for municipal youth programs under legislation sponsored by State Sen. Richard E. Schermerhorn (R-40th District).

Schermerhorn described the legislation as increasing the maximum per capita amount of state aid available for the youth programs and provides two alternative formulas for state aid.

In 1973, Ulster County received $50,000.

The Cornwall senator said he has been "carrying this bill for the past four years without success."

"It is good to know that we now have a responsible governor (Malcolm Wilson) who is showing concern for improving our youth programs rather than next year looking for a cure for the young person who has gone astray."

"The more input that New York State has in youth programs, the less need we will have for drug programs, methadone programs and correctional institutions," he said.

Criticism Heavy at Onteora Session

By CARL GRAHAM

WOODSTOCK

Critics took a prominent part in Monday night's Onteora Board of Education meeting. Coming under fire were the district's record keeping, teacher aide pay, and art programs.

Mrs. Constance Weiss called for a committee, with members from the Board of Education, parents, and teachers, to study pupil record keeping. She said that first and second grade teachers allegedly had downgraded her son unfairly as having no potential for advancement when his actual problem was perceptual. She said it was unfair for such remarks to follow a student in later life and asked for the committee "so we can have a progressive view of our children."

W. Jack Kahn, board president, said that the district did not have psychologists and other specialists at the time her boy was in second grade to make proper evaluations. "This wouldn't happen today," he said.

"Then we shouldn't have 12-year-old records that are inaccurate," Mrs. Weiss replied.

Dr. Frank Marlow, superintendent of schools, said that such notations are removed from student records that are sent to other schools, and that only "bare records" are kept. Kahn named Mrs. Weiss to the committee she suggested and told Marlow to report to the board on the present status of record keeping, along with recommendations for changes.

A member of the audience questioned why the pay of teacher, cafeteria, health and playground aides was "20 per cent below" the median pay for the mid-Hudson area. "The district should be at the median or above instead of 20 per cent below," he maintained.

Sam Mercer, a member of the committee that negotiated art contracts, said part of the problem had been caused by leaving money in the hands of an administrator no longer in the district.

Present aide pay ranges from $2.10 to $2.35 in three steps and goes to $2.45 in four steps next year, with everyone going up one step.

Iris Bresler, a part-time ceramics teacher at Woodstock, said she had found little cooperation from other teachers, no place for art classes, and said that a student mural put in a storeroom had been damaged. She criticized conditions at the school, saying there was no place to carry on a decent art program.

Kahn said there just was no room in the school for an art class. "We just can't afford that luxury," he said.

"I don't consider art a luxury," Ms. Bresler replied. Gladys Plate, another art teacher, said that in her 15 years at the school she had seen room found for everything else but art. "Woodstock was founded by artists," she said. "Now we are told there's no room for art."

Kahn caused a stir when he said the board had no intention of extending Marlow's contract. He then explained that he was replying to rumors in the district that Marlow's contract would be extended by the board beyond its June 30, 1976, expiration date, and that the statement did not imply that Marlow would not be rehired.

Marlow said the district had received two $20,000 federal grants for library services. One will be used to convert the West Hurley library into a media center and the other will be used to enable the Bennington and Woodstock schools to make cooperative purchases of materials with the Olive and Woodstock town libraries.

The Onteora marching band under Harry Simon will appear between halves of the New York Jets-Buffalo Bills football game at Shea Stadium on Dec. 8, Marlow revealed.

The district will install a modular classroom at Benett School. Kindergarten enrollment for next fall is over 70, making a fourth class necessary, Kahn said.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MAY 21, 1974

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Former Vice President Spiro Agnew is trying to rewrite the history of his downfall.

He has fired off a bristling protest to World Book Encyclopedia over its account of his forced resignation.

The respected encyclopedia factually reported in its 1974 yearbook that Agnew resigned the vice presidency last October after having pleaded "no contest" to charges of income tax evasion.

In return for Agnew's resignation and no-contest plea to the tax-evasion charge, "reported World Book," the government agreed not to prosecute him for alleged acts of extortion and bribery. . . . "In a 40-page exposition of evidence, the government alleged that shortly after his election as executive of Baltimore County in 1962, Agnew began and directed a complex scheme to extort thousands of dollars from consulting engineers in Maryland. In return, he allegedly granted them profitable government contracts. "Allegedly, Agnew continued to operate the kickback scheme from 1962 through his two years as governor of Maryland and during his first four years as Vice President."

The encyclopedia stressed that Agnew "denied that he was guilty. He said that accepting 'contributions' while governor of Maryland was 'part of a long-established pattern' of political fund-raising in the state."

This history of Agnew's fall from power, although quite accurate, displeased the former Vice President. Angriely, he sent back his copy of the yearbook and demanded in an accompanying letter that the Agnew name be removed from the firm's mailing list.

World Book officials refused to show us the Agnew letter, claiming it would be a "breach of confidence." Sources who have seen it, however, told us Agnew claimed the yearbook article was a distortion of the truth.

He complained that he had been found guilty of nothing. The entire case against him, he testified, was built upon the testimony of tainted men.

The encyclopedia's account, added Agnew, reflected a leftist bias. It was a trait he found all too common in the nation's news media, he protested.

One source who saw the letter told us it was "very personal" and showed Agnew has a sour opinion of the press.

World Book's summary of the Agnew affair went to press before Maryland judges ruled that he should be disbarred. The courts, apparently, agree with World Book.

FOOTNOTE: The former Vice President, who is traveling in Teheran, couldn't be reached for comment.

OIL RIP-OFF: The big oil companies have demanded higher and higher gasoline prices to stimulate domestic production and to reduce U.S. dependence upon foreign imports.

But a confidential study by Sen. Jim Abourezk, D-S.D., reveals that the excess profits have been going not into new oil wells but into the pockets of the oil barons.

The senator has discovered that domestic oil production has gone down, not up, since prices began soaring. Far from encouraging greater production, his figures show, there has been a "total decline of 314,000 barrels per day" since May 1973, before the crisis.

By holding back on domestic crude oil, the companies have kept the demand — and, therefore, the prices — sky high.

Curtailed production also permits the oil companies to adjust their profit level. When the public screams about exorbitant oil profits, the companies merely lower production. This reduces profits without losing them, since the oil remains in the ground for later sale at Pikes Peak prices.

The Abourezk study shows that the cutback in oil production was most severe last November at the same time that the oil firms were calling for higher prices to encourage more production.

The biggest firms were the worst offenders. Exxon, Texaco, Shell, Gulf, Mobil and Standard California alone accounted for a production drop of 153,000 barrels a day in 1973.

Nor have the oil companies been candid about prices. In 1972, the pro-industry National Petroleum Council said the oil firms would be able to turn a good profit on oil in 1975 at $3.54 to $3.70 a barrel.

Yet two years ahead of the prediction, the oil industry not only has surpassed but has doubled this price, with oil now selling at more than $7 a barrel. The promised exploration to ease the energy crisis, meanwhile, still hasn't taken place.

Based on his study, Abourezk plans to introduce a bill this week to force a rollback in domestic crude prices to May 1973. He will be joined by other senators, who would permit price increases only if the companies could prove higher production costs.

Independence Not Easy

The coup in Lisbon may bring some measure of independence to the Portuguese territories in Africa. Ordinarily, any move toward self-government for people emerging from colonialism could be hailed as progress.

In Africa today, however, it is hard to tell whether the retreat of European influence has paved the way for orderly political change or created arenas for strife and revolution which the Soviet Union and Communist China are willing and able to exploit.

Russian and Chinese weapons have been the mainstay of guerrilla warfare in the Portuguese territories and elsewhere. Moscow and Peking frequently compete with aid programs for native governments, with the usual accompaniment of technicians.

Their professed concern for helping the African people does not conceal the fact they are rivals seeking support for their contrasting brands of Marxism. They thrive on discontent, whether it springs from racial conflict, struggles between native groups or the specter of hunger which haunts much of Africa.

What happens in Lisbon is a matter of concern to the people of Rhodesia. Even though some Rhodesians feel it provides a much-needed opportunity for Portugal to solve its own problems, the government of Prime Minister Ian Smith is being very noncommittal.

Physically, Rhodesia's concern stems from its long border with Portuguese Mozambique. One of Rhodesia's essential outlets to the sea is by rail, from Umtali across Mozambique to the Portuguese port of Beira on the Indian Ocean.

Thus, if Mozambique were to undergo a major change of status, resulting in a hostile attitude toward the white-dominated Smith government, this would pose a new and vast potential threat to Rhodesia's 250,000 white residents.

The Smith government is saying little and keeping a low profile toward Portugal, presumably until the Lisbon junta's political position and attitude toward Africa become more clear.

The United States has minimal influence with the course of events in Africa. Political pressures in our own country cloud our relations with African governments which deny full political participation by black citizens. Most of the black-governed states line up consistently in the United Nations to denounce U.S. foreign policy as "imperialist." Yet we have been sending economic aid to Africa at the rate of about $350 million a year, and millions of Africans are turning to international food agencies that are supported largely by the United States.

Russia and China have little to export to Africa except guns and communism. Neither can do the people of Africa any good. It is tragic that New African nations with so much ground to cover in economic progress are expending so much energy in power struggles and racist warfare which only plays into the hands of the true imperialists who threaten them — the Communist powers.

A Yen to Teach

The Gallup Poll has come up with a tantalizing report on the avowed career preferences of college students. It is tantalizing because, while it reveals what students think they would like to become, it hints at no reasons for their choices.

The largest proportion of those questioned—23 per cent—said they planned to become teachers at the elementary, secondary or college levels. That is intriguing, especially since any such influx would glut the market for teachers a few years hence. Even more intriguing, though, is the question: Why?

Do students want to go into teaching because they yearn to help create a better society? Do they feel that such a career offers greater security at less risk than venturing into other fields? In the case of would-be-college teachers, do they idealize the advantages of academe? Other pertinent questions come to mind. Oh, for some answers!

BERRY'S WORLD

"I liked it better back in the days when all you had to fear was fear itself!"

© 1974 by NEA, Inc.

By WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY JR.

Mr. Reg Murphy, the editor of The Atlanta Constitution, has lines on his face he didn't have a year ago, as would you and I have if we had spent most of 50 consecutive hours gagged in the trunk of a car breathing a blend of carbon monoxide and fetid air, and being driven hither and yon by a kidnapper who quite coolly wondered right to the end whether he should take his big pistol back to the trunk and fire off a shot at the temple. Mr. Murphy's general views on kidnapping are worth more than most people's, one would think. And although one likes to believe that the age is not coming when we will be carrying cards in our wallets entitled: "Helpful Hints In Case Your Are Kidnapped: Mutual of Omaha's Special Behavior Guide"—it pays to listen . . .

For instance, on one pending matter Mr. Murphy is totally committed. He opposes legislation that would make it a felony to submit to the demands of the kidnapper. The theory of this law is totally correct, and the morality of it seductive. Crime should not pay, and therefore those who might be disposed to pay criminals should be prohibited from doing so. But here is as good an example as any of the collapse of theory up against experience.

In point of fact, the chances are overwhelming that a parent, or even an employer, will put up money rather than hazard the life of a member of the family or an employee. It is true that in doing so one encourages the practice of kidnapping. But in failing to do so one increases the chances of harm to an immediately identifiable victim. It is, quite simply, a dilemma. When a grandson of J. Paul Getty was kidnapped a year ago, Getty refused to submit to the kidnappers' demands on the grounds that, to do so would be to put into jeopardy all his other grandchildren — the reasoning is inescapable. But the remote problem is generally to be preferred over the immediate problem, in the calculations of human beings; and, in due course, Getty paid up.

Now it is Mr. Murphy's point that if the pending bill becomes law the result will not be to stop payments of cash to the kidnapper. But it will be to cease to coordinate these payments with the police. And if this happens, then the chances of identifying the criminal (and incidentally retrieving the money) are drastically reduced. And here is where the real encouragement to the criminal comes in. As the practice of kidnapping succeeds, so will the profession grow.

As things now stand, Mr. Murphy points out, kidnappers with one or two extraordinary exceptions — for instance the first guy who bailed out over the Rockies using a parachute — have not got away with it. This is because the technology of crime detection has greatly advanced since the days when Lindbergh's kidnapper could snatch up the money and escape, however briefly, without a trace. Nowadays you can — for instance — impregnate the satchel with the money in it with an essence that twitches the nostrils of a police radio miles away. Nowadays you have helicopters that ride so high the human eye cannot see them; and these helicopters have infra-red eyes that can spot and follow an automobile which has been invisibly doused with a substance as irremovable as Macbeth's stain. It is Mr. Murphy's point that all these instruments are lost to the victim — and to the society — if the law passes which would require the police to say over the telephone: "Sorry, sir; we cannot conceive in any way with you in the paying of ransom. The law would make us accomplices in the commission of a felony."

The distinction to be drawn, surely, is between that which an individual will almost certainly do, which the state cannot prevent him from doing; and that which a state can prevent itself from doing. The state has control over its emotions — or should have. If Governor Rockefeller had agreed to release the prisoners at Attica rather than risk the lives of the guards they held hostage, he'd have delivered to every prisoner in the state the key to his cell door. The distinction lies in the difference between the individual and the state. The grisly experience of the Israelis last week does not undermine the generality. They were dealing with crazed fanatics, concerning whom no laws are reasonably constructed.

Nicholas Von Hoffman:

Twenty Years of Failure

WASHINGTON — The 20th anniversary of the court decision ending segregated education passed with its memorialists almost schizophrenic. Brown v. Board of Education was the great piece of liberal jurisprudence, but a generation later, when so many people feel they were bilked into buying without being told the true interest and carrying charges, the decision seems to have fallen far short of what they remember being promised by those damn liberals.

Liberals are enthusiasts who do promise more than they can deliver, just as conservatives are sourpusses who promise you nothing and give you less. So, if it wasn't overtly stated, it was implied that by the time we got to 1974 our schools, all long since nicely integrated, would have made us equal. A preposterous proposition; but even since the American public school was begun as Protestant parochial education by the Wasp ruling class to discipline immigrant kids, the schools have been expected to compensate for everybody's idea of society's deficiencies.

The 1954 decision opened the way for great changes, all right, but not to better schooling for millions of black kids. Whether in integrated schools on the fringe or in all-black systems run by blacks like Washington, D.C.'s, the results, as they can be judged by achievement test scores, have been disappointing. The reasons advanced for the poor showing have ranged across the whole of the ancient nature versus nurture controversy, with the blame falling on everything and everybody from the kids' genes to their family structure.

There being nothing you can do about such things, those who purvey them as explanations are actually kissing off the lower-class black schoolchild. But, then, academic success for these children would increase competition for the better jobs and put even greater strain on our tormented class structure. Among black and white middle class alike, no overriding necessity exists to teach these children, and no sincere, fullscale effort has been made to do so these last 20 years.

The white parents checked out, but the inner city school systems they left frequently have had a higher per pupil expenditure than those in the suburban ring. Much good the money was against demoralized violence and pedagogical eccentricity. Yet educators of both races went along with the frauds pulled on their black students.

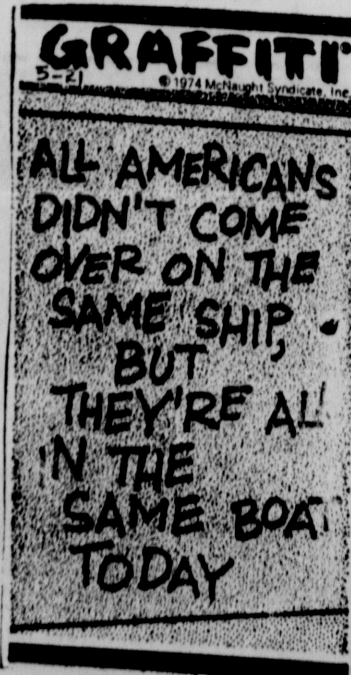

Open classrooms, black studies, community development, self-realization, the jargon but not the substance of Dewey — the kids got every gimmick, pilot project, experimental breakthrough and bit of trashy, innovative outreach that the con men of social work, public education and specious social change could jive with. The result: Amos 'n' Andy in Afro and dashiki. The lingo is a little different, Soul Brothers and Sisters, but it's still those lovably ignorant, functionally illiterate caricatures the white folks have been laughing at since they invented the minstrel show.

Where but in the modern ghetto school do we find parents asking teachers to flunk their children and not pass them along unready to the next grade? There is where you have the teachers who indulge their students by teaching them nothing, and the principals who tolerate it, and the social workers who rationalize it, and the silly-headed cultural nationalists who celebrate it and unite with one another to denounce complaints as elitism. The children in the Black Muslim schools do learn to read, but not those in the public ones who must suffer being neglected and fought over by the experimentalists, the community controlists and the American Federation of Teachers.

In the meantime, some few still have the heart to fight the Battle of Little Yellow Bus, even as black leaders say this chasing after whites and their children is demeaning. The New Segregation is so easy on eardrums and stomach that we may forget that Brown v. Board made it possible to give all our children the schooling they need to avoid being ticketed either as tokens or welfare drones. After 20 years of backfires and false starts, we now should know enough to get on with the job.

MEMORIAL DAY NOTICES

Remembering
Those Who Passed Away

You have some departed loved ones you'll never forget. Remember them publicly with an "In Memoriam" notice in the Sunday Freeman May 26th. Write your own verse, or, upon request, we will furnish an appropriate one.

This Memorial Day, honor the memory of your family and friends who have passed away.

"In Memoriams" are a prepaid advertisement at a minimum charge of $6.00 for 10 lines. You may either come to the Daily Freeman Classified Department or if you prefer phone your copy to our ad takers who will be pleased to quote you a price and hold your copy for payment prior to insertions.

Deadline date for Sunday's Memoriams will be 11 a.m., May 24th.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR DEAR (Name)

Who passed away

VERSE: ☐ Please Select An Appropriate Verse

SAMPLE A

To recall sad memories
Of a dear husband gone to rest,
And the one who thinks of him today
Is the one who loved him best.

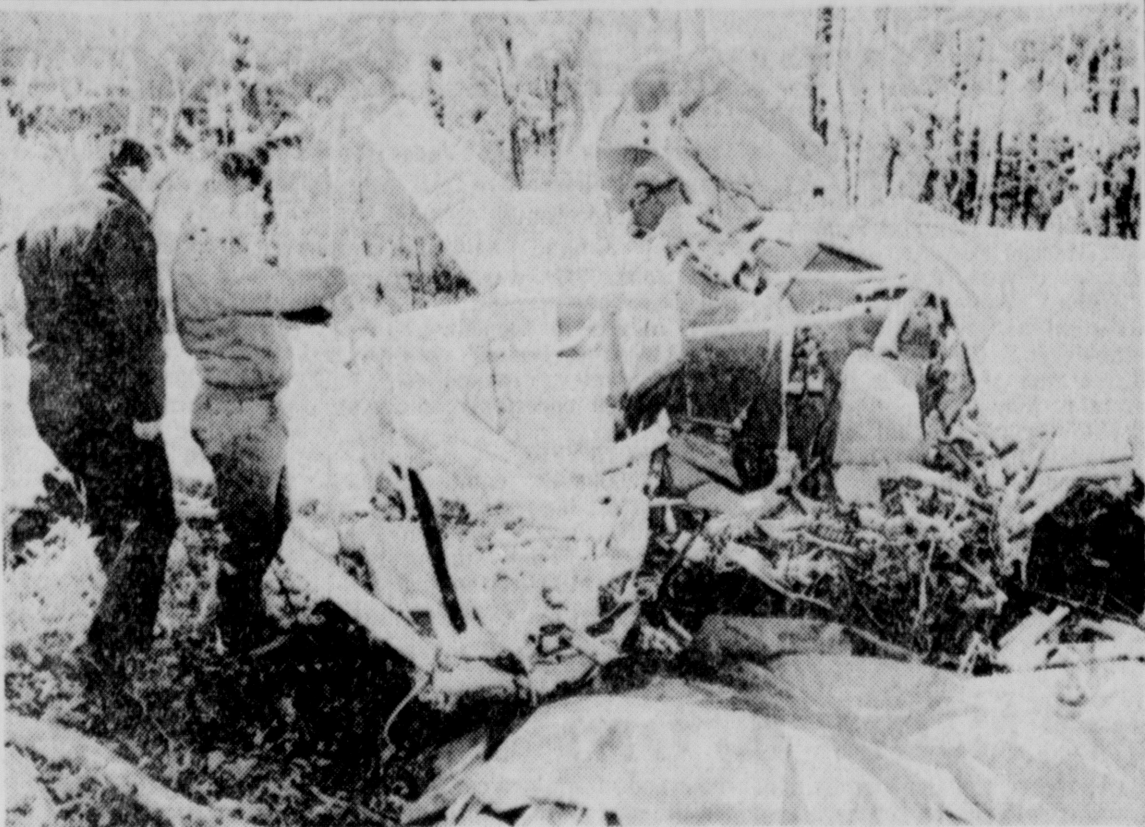

SAMPLE B

You're not forgotten, mother dear,
Nor ever shall you be.
As long as life and memory last
We shall remember thee.

Daily Freeman, 3 Broadway, Kingston, N. Y. Phone 338-0606.

SAMPLE C

To your grave we wander,
Flowers placed with care,
But no one knows the heartache,
As we turn to leave you there.
If we had one wish,
One dream that could come true,
We would pray with all our hearts
For yesterday and you.

TWISTED WRECKAGE — Investigators view the twisted wreckage of one of the two small planes which collided in flight near the Tewksbury Airport in Massachusetts. State police have recovered three bodies and are searching for a fourth, that person believed to have jumped from one of the planes involved. The planes landed about 75 yards apart. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Undercover Agent Killed Accidentally

NEW YORK (UPI) — A New York State Police undercover narcotics agent, identified as Sgt. Leslie Grosso, 33, was shot and fatally wounded Monday night by another undercover agent whose gun apparently discharged accidentally during a drug buy in the Bedford Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn, police reported.

No charges were filed against the second undercover agent, whose name was not released, a police spokesman said.

No one else was injured in the incident, the spokesman said.

Grosso was a 12-year veteran of the state police and had been on the New York State Drug Enforcement Task Force, whose members include city, state, and federal agents, for three years. He was unmarried.

The spokesman said Grosso had gotten into a car with two suspected drug dealers, identified as James Ford, 36, and Roberto Cruz, 39, both of Brooklyn. He handed the men $10,000 in cash in return for three ounces of cocaine, police said, then gave a prearranged signal to eight other undercover agents, all members of the Task Force, who were hiding nearby.

The other agents rushed at the auto with guns drawn, and one of them accidentally pulled the trigger of his weapon, hitting Grosso in the head, the spokesman said.

Ford and Cruz were arrested and charged with the sale of narcotics.

A handgun was also confiscated from one of the suspects, and the $10,000 used to purchase the cocaine was recovered.

Morgenthau Declares Candidacy

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former U.S. Attorney Robert M. Morgenthau has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Manhattan district attorney.

Morgenthau, 55, said in making the announcement Monday that he would run a non-political office, in the tradition of the late DA Frank Hogan, if he were elected.

He declined to comment on the administration of DA Robert Kuh, who was appointed in February by Gov. Malcolm Wilson to complete Hogan's unexpired term.

Morgenthau also said crime was a big problem in the city, criticized Wilson's new limited death penalty law, and attacked the plea bargaining system as "overused."

Musical Groups Are Scheduled

SAUGERTIES Musical groups scheduled to appear at the Saugerties Old Timers' Day, August 10, have been announced by Mrs. Joan Feldmann, co-chairman of the planning committee.

Appearing will be Papa Bear and his Chamber Music Society of the Lower Esopus Creek; the Amerscot Highland Pipe Band, with Pipe Major Frank Hudak; and the Sweet Adelines Barbershop quartet. The Leftfooters Square Dance Club will be present at the evening square dance, which will be called by Don Hanhurst of Poughkeepsie. Mrs. Joseph Bender is music chairman for Old Timers' Day.

Mrs. Feldmann reported that she is still looking for craftsmen to demonstrate their skills, and that some booth space is available. More information about booths may be obtained from Mrs. Philip Sweeney.

The planning committee will hold its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday, May 22, at 8 p.m., in the Village Clerk's office. All area residents who are interested in working on Old Timers' Day may attend. Mrs. Feldmann especially urged Saugerties businessmen to come to the meeting to find out more details about Old Timers' Day.

Hurley Democrats

Town of Hurley Democrats will caucus on Thursday at St. Joseph's Hurley Mission Hall at 7:30 p. m. to elect delegates and alternates to the unofficial Democratic convention. All enrolled town Democrats are eligible to vote. A date has not been set for the county convention but by law it must be before June 10.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of John A. Carle, who passed away 23 years ago, May 21, 1951. His helping hand was always first. To render any aid he could; His voice was always raised in praise. His words were wise and good. Dear father, since you've gone away. The ones you loved so true. Try hard to carry on the way. We know you'd want us to. WIFE and CHILDREN

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother Micheline Naccarato, who passed away nine years ago today, May 21, 1965. They say time heals all sorrows. It helps us to forget. But time, so far, has only proved. How much we miss her yet. God gave us strength to fight it. And courage to face the blow. But what it means to lose her. No one will ever know. Over 9½ million Americans are on the Payroll Savings Plan. Maybe they know something you don't.

Maybe they know it's easier to save money you never see. So they sign up for the Payroll Savings Plan. And specify an amount to be set aside from each paycheck to buy U.S. Savings Bonds. And maybe they know Bonds are one of the best ways to feel secure about your savings. Because you always get back what you paid. Plus interest. So maybe you'd better talk to your payroll people. And join the 9½ million already on the Payroll Savings Plan. Soon.

Take stock in America.

OLIVER CRAWFORD

Supervisor In Olive Praises Help

OLIVEBRIDGE

"No surprises," Oliver Crawford said.

It's not surprising that he found nothing unexpected about the Olive supervisor's job he took over in January. He had a ringside seat for 10 years as town clerk under three former supervisors. "I worked closely with Jim Glemming, Frank Carle, and Lester Davis, the previous supervisors," he explained.

Just because there are no surprises doesn't mean there are no problems. Crawford considers the chief goal to be "keeping the town as nearly as possible as it is today." Most Olive residents like their town the way it is, Crawford agrees.

But if there are problems, there are also people to help him solve them. "One thing has helped me since taking over this job," he said. "I know our county legislators, the highway superintendent, and the town board members well. They are going out of their way to help get things done."

He views it as a team effort. He spoke of the good work being done by the Recreation Commission as an example, saying he was pleased with the way the town's recreation program is shaping up.

Marcel Maier, the veteran highway superintendent, also came in for praise for the way in which he handles the town's road problems.

"I think our roads are in good shape," he said. "There's more to the problem than just the length of the roads. Our 60 miles of roads are mostly paved and most of them are wider than the average town road. In actual area they would be the equivalent of 75 or 80 miles of narrower roads."

He noted that town snow plowing crews have to make four passes on most Olive roads, just as county crews do.

His acquaintanceship with the town dates back to his boyhood, when his family summered there. His father, a contractor, took the family at various times to Walden in nearby Orange County, to Connecticut, and to New York City, where he attended high school.

He worked at various jobs during the depression years, including a stint with a Wall Street firm. He came to Olive and opened a garage in Olivebridge, a business that has kept him tied down for the past 25 years.

Elected town clerk in 1963, he was reelected in 1965, 1967, 1969, and 1971 before running for supervisor last year. He also served on the Recreation Commission before resigning to run for elective office.

Looking back over his first five months as supervisor, Crawford said he was satisfied with his progress. Like anyone taking on a new job, he is still learning ways to do things more efficiently and in less time.

He maintains his office in the old town building in Olivebridge, along with his secretary, Mrs. Dorothy Adsit. Town board meetings have been shifted to the Legion Hall in Shokan.

"This place was too small," he said of the Olivebridge building. "We had a big crowd in here for the organizational meeting, people standing up and sitting on the floor. I decided we would have to get out of here."

The board will continue to meet in the Legion Hall for at least another year. After that, Crawford hopes to resume the former practice of moving town board meetings into the various districts of the town.

He hasn't had much time for his hobbies lately. A home carpenter and furniture refinisher, he is also collecting old books about fishing, his favorite recreation.

Lack of time is his biggest problem as supervisor, he feels. "We have to go through so many legal steps to get things done," he explained. "Things that I thought should take a day or two are taking weeks."

Crawford and his wife, the former Vera Locke of Brooklyn, live in a comfortable old house in Olivebridge. Their only son, an official with a major trucking firm, lives in Schenectady.

So far he hasn't had much time for fishing. "I hope to be able to get away for a month in June to go north and catch a few," he said hopefully.

Circus Set

The Woodstock Rotary Club will sponsor The Roberts Bros. Circus for performances at 6 and 8 p.m. Monday, July 1 at Andy Lee Recreation Field.

"If it sounds too good to be true, watch out!"

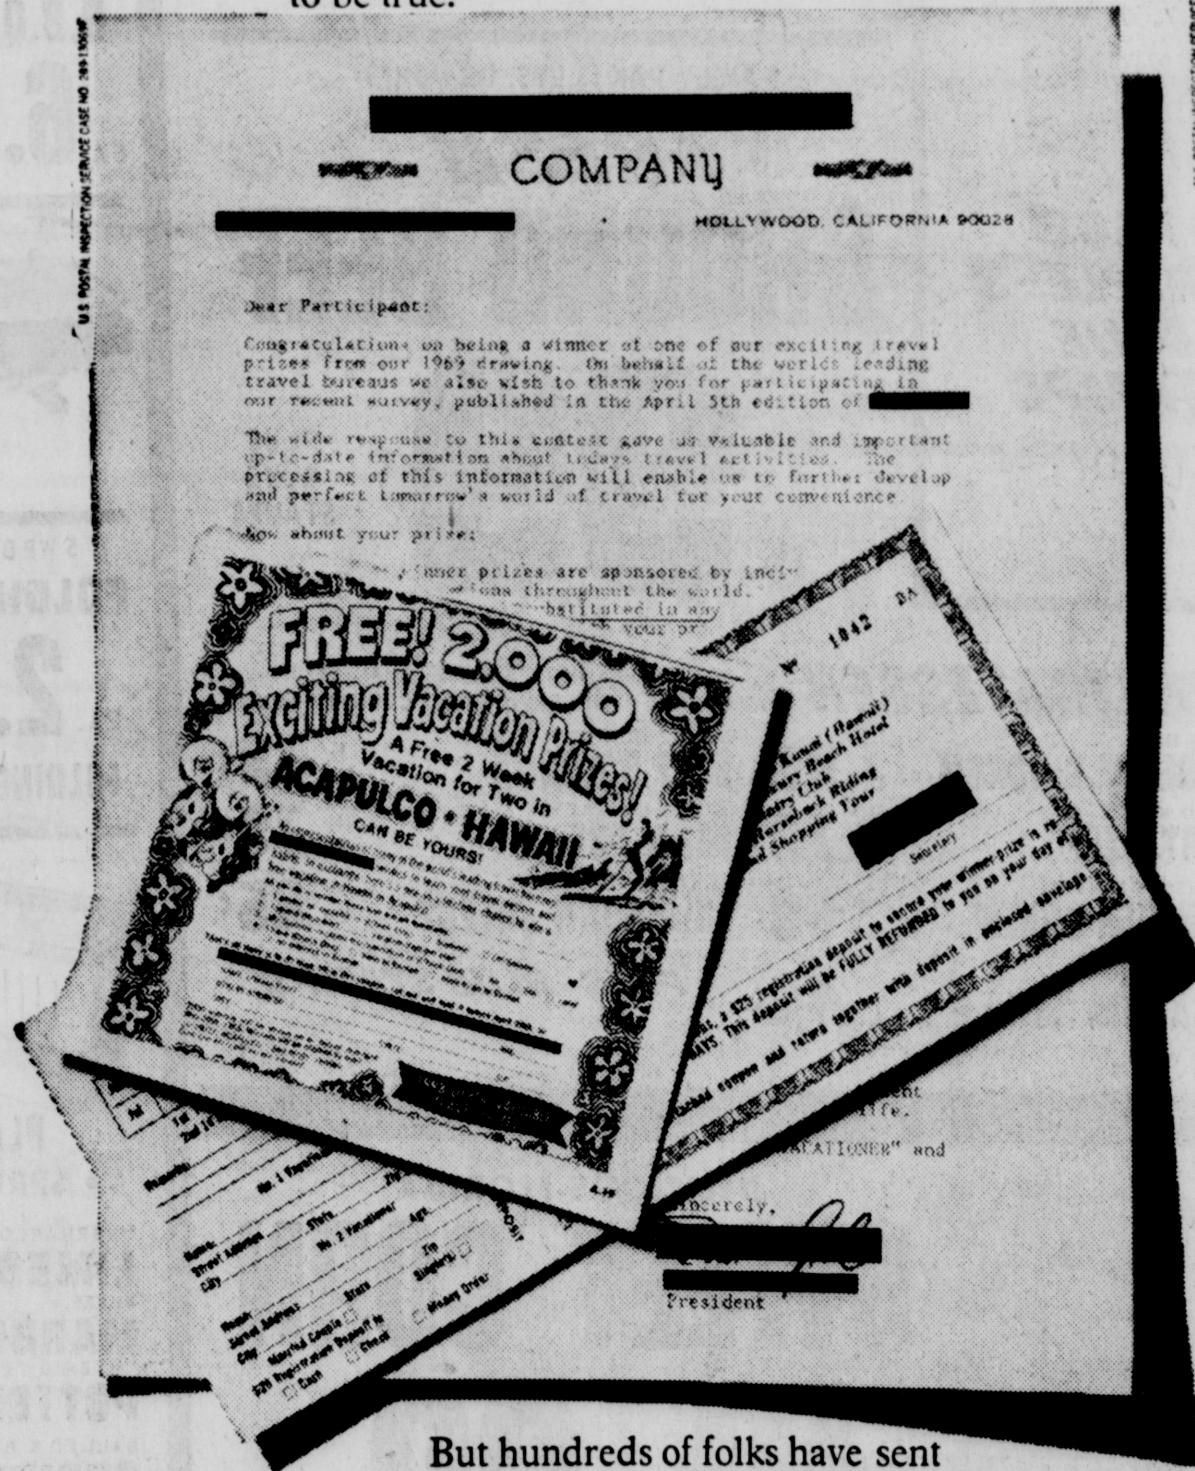

Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk
Kingston, New York 12401

When your mail brings you news of an exciting offer or a terrific bargain, you can almost always count on its honesty. That's because you're protected in many ways from phonies who would use the mail to cheat you.

But sometimes when somebody wants to cheat you, he'll still try to use the mail. And that's where the Post Office comes in—on your side. Some of the schemes we stop are pretty slick. Here are some popular examples to watch out for.

The free vacation trick.

You get a letter that says you've won an all-expense-paid vacation to some dream spot. All you have to do is send a deposit, and you'll get that back when you leave. You're right if you say it's too good to be true.

But hundreds of folks have sent their money, dreamt of far-off places, and packed their bags. They never left. But you can bet the crooks who got their money did.

The retirement home swindle.

Maybe you get a telephone call or read an ad that says "Buy a King-Sized Western Estate, Just $1 Down and $10 a Month." The price is so low you might think you can't lose, and you buy the land sight unseen.

A lot of people have done it, and made plans for settling down on their land and building lovely retirement homes. That's before they finally find out the sad truth.

Their king-sized estates are sitting in the middle of a parched desert wilderness, or submerged under acres of smelly swamp water.

$1 down and $10 a month turns out to be a high price to pay for land you couldn't even give away.

The obituary hoax.

Maybe the cruelest trick of them all is a crook who sends COD merchandise to names on the obituary page of the newspaper. One guy even sent out Bibles this way.

He figured a close relative would assume the Bible was ordered by the deceased. And pay for it, no questions asked. Too often, he was right.

We put these crooks in jail.

It's our job to keep you safe from people who would use the mail to cheat you.

There are 1700 Postal Inspectors across the country who do this. And nobody wants the Inspectors on their trail.

Proof is, when a general store with a small Post Office inside was broken into a few years back, the burglars made a chalk line on the floor to divide off the Post Office. They were so afraid of the Inspectors, they scrawled the message: "Inspectors, we didn't cross that line!"

The Inspectors put thousands of crooks out of business last year. And you can rest assured they aren't around to cheat you anymore.

The safest mail in the world.

Thanks to the Postal Inspectors, you've got the safest mail of any country in the world. But be suspicious of something-for-nothing schemes. Never buy land sight unseen. And don't accept COD merchandise you didn't order.

If you should have a question about something that looks fishy, get in touch with us right away. Save the envelope. Save all of its contents. That'll help the Inspectors. And, we might be able to save you from a costly mistake, if the Inspectors are already into the case.

We want you to be able to trust your mail. And we're proud you can.

You have questions.
We want you to have the answers.

New Paltz Village Resolution:

'License Plate Power to the People'

By WADE BURKHART

NEW PALTZ
Nobody gets a New Paltz designation license plate unless they have the approval of Ulster County Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago, according to a New Paltz Village Board resolution, and the board's resolution Monday night called for an end to the practice.

The legislation was offered by Trustee John Logan, and it passed unanimously. According to both Logan and his resolution, New Paltz Village Police Chief Harold Bowers, in Dec. 1973, could not get a New Paltz designated license plate—

NPL, NPN, or some similar—for a village police car until Savago approved it.

Logan said the same thing happened to his wife, Gail, when she sought a New Paltz plate last Thursday. Logan said his wife told him of a vault with New Paltz licenses, allegedly kept locked until Savago says to open it.

The board resolution said, "such political control over the issuance of automobile license plates is illegal, unethical, and not in the best interests of the citizens of the Village of New Paltz," bad for several other reasons, "and is destructive of a favorable attitude of the people towards the various levels of government."

Logan said his wife and Bowers were "humiliated and demeaned" by the incidents, and that Savago, who was identified in the resolution as "the New Paltz Town Republican Chairman," wanted "to assert his authority in every little facet of our lives."

The board is sending copies of its resolution to the Ulster County Clerk, the Ulster County Legislature, and the New York State Commissioner of Motor Vehicles.

In other action, the board approved the purchase of eight small lots from George Mead, located between Meadow and Hill Streets. The total purchase price was $4,500, and together with a parcel of unknown ownership now in condemnation, will be used for a park along the new Fulton Road Extension.

The board approved three bond anticipation notes, $122,000 for the Fulton Road extension, $45,000 for a water main along the road, and $168,000 for a sanitary sewer line along Fulton Road, Church Street, and Broadhead Avenue. Much of the cost of the water and sewer lines will be recovered from the property owners benefited.

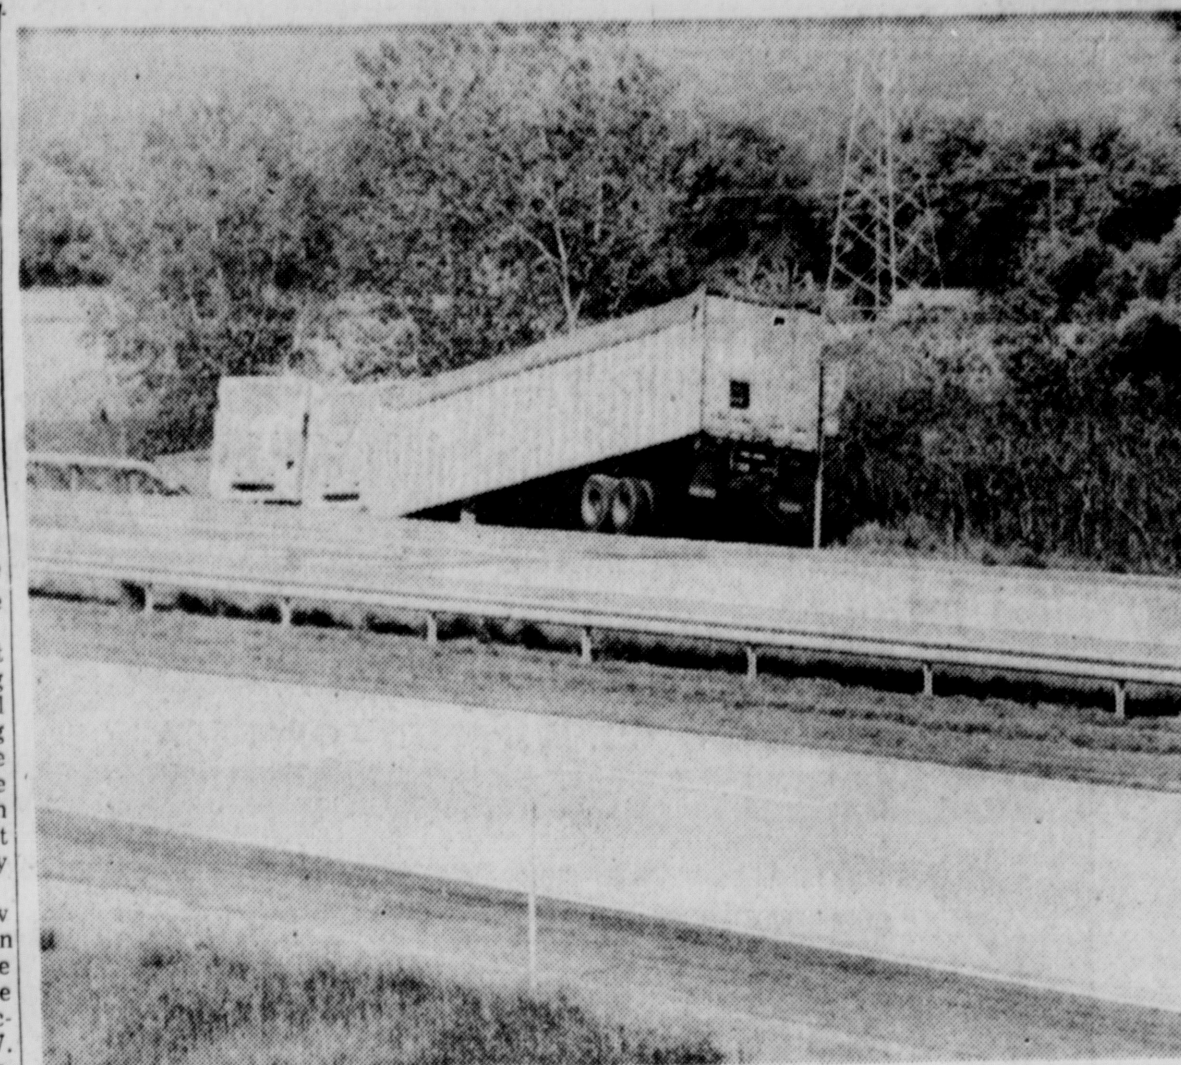

After a public hearing, the board approved the new, raised, schedule of sewer rates.

The payment of $786 was authorized in back payments for the rent of space for the village fire siren on the building of Smith Ruger. The rent was only $6 per month, and Ruger had not been paid since sometime in 1963, according to Village Attorney J. Philip Zand.

Two public hearings were set for Monday, June 10, beginning at 7:30 p.m. The hearings will be on eliminating all parking on Plattekill Avenue, with the exception of that on college property, between South Maheim Boulevard and Lookout Avenue, and ending the penny parking meter rate.

Two letters from the New Paltz Homeowners Association were not entered into the minutes because they were unsigned and undated, according to Mayor Henry W. DuBois. Logan read the letters, which dealt with increasing violence in New Paltz and a proposed recall of Town Justice S. Parks Glenn, and demanded they be put in the minutes, but the board voted against him.

NOT TOO COOL — Commercial air conditioning units spill out the front of a trailer that broke away from a tandem unit on the Thruway early Monday just south of the Kingston interchange. The trailer took down ten sections of guard rail before it plunged off the southbound lane. The driver, Jack Lagatella, 53, of Fulton, who escaped uninjured with the tractor and first trailer, was issued a summons for having an unsafe vehicle by Thruway State Police. Board Hears Request For Special Privileges

By TIM SCHUSTER

SAUGERTIES
Developers of a proposed 120 unit motel with large shopping mall and 36 "executive cottages" Monday night asked for permission to use Village of Saugerties water and sewerage connections.

The one hitch — the proposed complex just off Route 212, about 20 acres owned by Gil Rivera behind the Dairy Queen and Mobil gas station, lies just outside village limits.

Attorney Klein and Robert Smith, representative of Imperial Motels of Atlanta, Ga., made the presentation to the village board and were promised an investigation into the possibility of using village water.

Mayor Vernon "Joe" Benjamin remarked that "water has been one of our biggest problems," and Trustee Calvin Hackett stated flatly that "we are not giving any water outside village limits. . . . This is not only board policy, but the law, and we have been making no exceptions," he stated.

Klein cited some figures garnered 20 years ago from the Water Resources Board that estimated Saugerties' Blue Mountain Reservoir has a capacity per day of 1.8 million gallons, and said the village uses only about 800,000 gallons per day.

Hackett said that he can point to peak periods of use when the village has used more than 1.4 million gallons per day during the summer, and stated after the meeting that he felt it best to look out for village residents' welfare first.

The plan is nothing drastically new for the area, other than it would combine the shopping plaza (75,000 square feet) with the motel. The land is not far from the Thruway exits in Saugerties, and Smith said that Imperial Motels, which would lease the units and cottages, wants to "capitalize on the ski resorts" in the nearby Catskills.

He claimed that a total of 200 persons would be employed when the projects were completed, in addition to about 75 during construction.

The complex, which as yet has no official name and is referred to in the plans as "a motel complex and shopping mall," will be reviewed in special session by village and development officials. Developers said they were told by Town of Saugerties officials to first seek the water and sewerage before construction. The town has no zoning law.

A site plan shows potential entrances and exits on Route 212 next to the service station, with 377 parking spaces for the mall and 146 for the motel. Each "executive cottage," laid out to the rear of the property, would have private parking.

In other village business, action was deferred on the touchy matter of whether or not the village recognizes its recently signed contract with the patrolmen, represented by Teamsters Local 445, is a legal one.

Debate ensued Monday with Teamster spokesman Michael Marco stating that police feel it is a "duly negotiated and signed agreement, claiming at one point that the village was 'reneging.'"

The contract did, in fact, receive a 5-2 approval and was signed by Mayor Benjamin, but a successive "re-vote" resulted in its being cast aside by the village in a 5-1 vote.

Village Attorney William Brinnier said it was not a legal contract because responsible parties of both parts did not sign it at the same time. The controversial "addendum" to the contract had only a spot for the village to sign, he said. And some trustees said privately that George Derbyshire, who signed the original contract, was not empowered to do so.

The contract, to run from June 1, 1974 to May 31, 1975, would have increased the starting patrolman's salary to $7,000, which Trustee Erika Hinchey said was the "lowest in the state."

After the meeting, Mrs. Hinchey reiterated her position that the salary increases were necessary and restated her support of the contract. Other officials expressed the feeling that raises somewhat lesser were in order.

The salary schedule would raise the salaries of the top sergeant to $10,900, or a raise of $1,675, with others ranging in the $1,500 raise range.

Since Police Chief Gordon Keeley receives a current salary of only $9,500, after 28 years service, he submitted a request through Police Commissioner Hinchey that his salary be increased to $14,000.

It was said this was felt to be in line with chiefs of similar departments. Examples given were: Ellenville $15,000; Catskill $11,500; Monticello $16,500; and Liberty, $14,000. The request was duly noted in the minutes, with no action taken.

And a successor to veteran Village Clerk Treasurer James Gage was finally found when the board voted in a 4-3 decision to give the job to Georgette Hughes, effective immediately with a salary of $7,500 plus a $300 increase after six months work.

The board split evenly 3-3 on the vote, with Mayor Benjamin casting the deciding ballot. Gage is leaving after many years with the village May 31.

Marilyn Daley was appointed registrar of vital statistics, and a complaint from William Washburn, Dock Street, of unsightly garbage dumps on adjacent property and of massive landfill dumped on private property in the area will be investigated.

Some debate ensued on the ongoing negotiations on the Barclay Heights-village joint sewerage project contract, with Mayor Benjamin insisting that a copy of the contract be in Brinnier's hands at least 48 hours before joint discussion.

Visiting town supervisor Michael Schovel said, "It's about time the attorneys get together and iron this thing out, adding, 'It's been going on so long it is approaching a childish state.'"

The matron of honor wore a mint green knit gown styled with a ruffled jacket. The ensemble featured an Empire waistline and turtle neck collar. Her picture hat was accented with lace.

The bridesmaids' lilac gowns were identical in styling to the honor attendant's.

Raymond Peck of Sandy Hook, Conn., was best man. Ushers were Donald Eaton of Sandy Hook and Robert Moseley of Newtown. Dale Eaton was ringbearer.

A reception was given at the Alexandria Room in Newtown.

The bride is a graduate of Newtown High School. Her husband attended Newtown High School and is employed by the Town of Newtown. Mr. and Mrs. Moseley Jr. will reside at Center Street, Sandy Hook, Conn.

Hadassah Installation Ceremony Slated

Mrs. Anne Breuer will be installed as president of Kingston Chapter of Hadassah Monday, June 3 at 8 p.m. at Temple Emanuel, 243 Albany Avenue, Kingston.

The slate of officers to be installed by Rabbi Jonathan Eichhorn includes: Mrs. Sylvia Starkman, vice president, fund raising; Mrs. Peggy Scholssberg, vice president, programming; Mrs. Lee Markoe, vice president, Education; Mrs. Ann Horowitz, vice president, Motzkin, Treasurer; Mrs. Shirley Crystal, recording secretary; Mrs. Barbara Rosen, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Minna Johnson, financial secretary.

Guest speaker will be Mrs. Beatrice Fried of Beacon, newly elected regional president, who will talk on "Identity, Israel and Hadassah."

After the installation ceremony, members and their husbands and guests will enjoy a wine and cheese tasting party.

Incoming president Anne Breuer was born in Brooklyn. She was graduated from James Madison High School and attended City College of New York and San Francisco State College where she majored in merchandising and art.

As a buyer, she worked for Macy's in New York for 12 years and Joseph Magnin in San Francisco for two years. While in New York City, she became interested in dramatics and performed with the Sheridan Square Village.

Mrs. Breuer's husband Harold is an electrical engineer with IBM. They have three children: Larry, 22, currently serving in the U.S. Navy; Michael in junior high school; and Nora-Lyn in elementary school.

Mrs. Breuer has been active with the United Jewish Appeal, is a member of the Jewish Community Council, the Board of the Jewish Community Center, and was a member of the steering committee of the Big Sister Program. She is also the immediate past president of Temple Emanuel Sisterhood.

In Kingston-Hadassah, Mrs. Breuer has been vice president of programming and served as Zionist affairs chairman.

Mrs. Morton Lurie, completing her second term as president, extends appreciation to the outgoing slate of officers and committee chairmen. They include: Mrs. Gladys Holtz, vice president, membership; Mrs. Judith H. Robins, vice president, fund raising; Mrs. Iris Oseas, vice president, programming; Mrs. Peggy Schlossberg, vice president, education; Mrs. Ann Motzkin, treasurer; Mrs. Minna Johnson, financial secretary; Mrs. Judith Leopold, recording secretary; Mrs. Shirley Crystal, corresponding secretary.

On behalf of the Kingston Chapter of Hadassah Mrs. Lurie expressed her gratitude to the Kingston community for its generous response in helping to make Hadassah's Eye Bank Day May 1st such a success.

The Department of Ophthalmology contains more than 10 subspecialty clinics — Glaucoma, External Eye Diseases, Plastic Surgery including transplantation and Neuro-Ophthalmology. All proceeds collected by the Hadassah volunteers have gone to benefit the Hadassah

Commemorative Tree Planting in Woodstock

To recognize the historic significance of tree fruit in Ulster County, and the JONATHAN APPLE in particular which originated in Woodstock about 1800, the Woodstock Garden Club plans a commemorative planting of a JONATHAN APPLE TREE adjacent to the existing stone monument to the Jonathan Apple, which monument is on the Bearsview section of Route 212 in Woodstock, at the entrance to DeVall Road.

This commemorative planting is scheduled for Wednesday at 2 p.m. The public is invited.

Through the administration of James E. Ashton, New York State Cooperative Extension Agent, Agricultural Division, Millbrook, and Warren H. Smith, fruit specialist and N.Y. State Cooperative Extension Agent, Hudson Valley Laboratory, Highland, the tree will be donated by the Fruit Industry Commodity Advisory Committee. Mr. Ashton and Mr. Smith, along with William H. Palmer, Ulster County Cooperative Extension Agent, Kingston, will be present for the ceremony.

This project of the Garden Club is part of the Club's 1974 Environmental Improvement Program for Woodstock, and Mrs. Lamont W. Marvin, chairman of the project, and Mrs. Ernest Lindroth, horticulture chairman, have issued special invitations to H. Clark Bell, Assemblyman; Verner May, Woodstock Town Supervisor; Alf Evers, noted author, Catskills historian, and horticulturist; and to Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Jeffery on whose property the Jonathan Apple Monument is situated, and with whose cooperation the project is taking place. Mr. May will be master of ceremonies.

It is of interest that the property where the Jonathan Apple was discovered in Woodstock in 1800 has come down to Mrs. Jeffery through her maternal ancestors. She is the granddaughter of Chauncey DeVall for whom the present DeVall Road is named. Mr. DeVall came to the United States from France with his three brothers. He settled in the area, acquiring much of the land which is now Woodstock.

The Jonathan Apple was first called the "Rick" or the "Philip Ricky" after its discoverer. Later it was named JONATHAN in honor of Jonathan Hasbrouk, who developed this variety.

Over $6,000 to Date From Benefit 'Walk'

ZONTA WALKATHON clocked approximately 300 participants in the May 18 benefit for mental health services. More than $6,000 had been tallied with many more dollars still pouring in. Here, Freeman photographer takes a candid shot of some walkers with their identification cards and balloons. It was a fun morning complete with refreshments and entertainment. All walkers stepped off from Kingston Shopping Plaza and most did the 3-mile hike in one hour and 15 minutes. (Freeman photos by Carey)

FREEMAN WALKERS in the Zonta benefit for Mental Health Services included (L-R) Hugh Reynolds, city hall reporter, and Edward Palladino, city editor. Also walking from the Daily Freeman were Joan L. Weinoski, editorial staff, women's department; and Pat Butler, circulation department. Walking in the rear Charles (Chuck) Beckwith. Freeman walkers were "recruited" by Dorothy Narel, charter member of Zonta Club of Kingston.

COLLEEN CRESPINO, former president of Zonta Club of Kingston and co-chairman of this year's Walkathon along with Mickey Duncan, led a contingent of walkers from Ulster Savings Bank in a sulky. Costumes, company shirts, posters and banners were just a few of the colorful highlights in the 1974 benefit for mental health services in Ulster County. At the conclusion of the walk, walkers received signed certificates and were treated to a program of entertainment and refreshments with Len Cane as MC. It was a GREAT DAY for walking.

Educational Program for Nurses, Therapists

A special professional education program for nurses and therapists, focusing on the care of the emphysema patient, will take place Wednesday at Benedictine Hospital, provided by the Ulster County TB and RD

Foundation from the Jacob and Sophie Rice Family Foundation Fund and co-sponsored by the Catskill Region TB and Respiratory Disease Association.

The outstanding Institute Program includes two members of the noted Respiratory Disease Teaching Team — Dr. John W. Vance and Mrs. Barbara Edelman, R.N., of Buffalo. They will be introduced at the Seminar by Miss Rosemary Pellegrino, R.N., Director of Nursing, Kingston Hospital, who will preside over the morning session. Miss Seigina Frick, R.N., Director of the American Lung Association Nursing Department, National League for Nursing, serving by popular local nurse request, will be introduced by Sister Gabrielle, OSB, R.N., Director of Nursing, Benedictine Hospital, and will preside at the afternoon seminar session.

Attendance is scheduled from all Catskill Region (Greene, Ulster and Sullivan County) hospitals, nursing homes, public health nursing departments, infirmaries, BOCES and LPN programs, community college nursing program, and industrial nursing areas involving nursing and therapy personnel.

The Emphysema Nurse Institute will commence at 10:45 a.m. with a welcome by Miss Katharine T. Terwilliger, president of the Ulster County

MRS. BARBARA EDELMAN, RN

DR. JOHN W. VANCE

MISS SEIGINA M. FRICK, RN

TE and RD Foundation. Questions and discussion periods are arranged during the seminar program, and luncheon will be served at the meeting site with attending nurses and key personnel the guests of the Foundation.

Dr. John W. Vance, Associate Clinical Professor of Medicine, State University of Buffalo, whose topic will be "Assessment of the Patient with Chronic Obstructive Lung Disease" received his M.D. at the University of Western Ontario Medical School and MS in Medicine at the University of Minnesota. Specializing in Internal Medicine (Pulmonary Diseases) he is certified by the American Board of Internal Medicine and Specialty Board in Pulmonary Disease.

Dr. Vance is Director of the Pulmonary Study Unit and is Attending Physician at Millard Fillmore Hospital, Buffalo; is Director of the Chronic Respiratory Disease Program of the Western New York Regional Medical Program; and is First Vice-President of the TB and RD Association of Western New York, sister agency of the local Catskill Region TB-RD Group.

Mrs. Barbara Edelman, of the Respiratory Disease team, is Respiratory Nurse Specialist at Millard Fillmore Hospital. She received her AAS degree at Corning Community College and completed the Regional Medical Pulmonary course in 1970. She also has served as Pulmonary Home Care Coordinator and as Respiratory Nurse Specialist for the Western New York and Lakes area Regional Medical Programs. Her subject at the May 22nd session at Kingston will be "Home Care and Rehabilitation of the Emphysema Patient."

Miss Seigina Frick, R.N., during the afternoon program, will delve into the "Psychosocial Problem of the Patient with Chronic Obstructive Lung Disease." A native of Holland, Miss Frick received her nursing education in England, Scotland, and Holland. She holds a bachelors degree in English from Rutgers University, and in Nursing from Teachers College, Columbia University. Her masters degree in Rehabilitation is from New York University, and she is a Certified Nurse-Midwife, and has a certificate in Psychiatric Nursing. Miss Frick formerly was on the faculty of the College of Nursing, Rutgers University and was Nursing Supervisor, Medical-Surgical Department, Mount Sinai Hospital, Montclair, N.J.

In addition to Miss Pellegrino, Sister Gabrielle and Miss Terwilliger, also serving on the Institute Steering Committee were: Sister Mary Charles, R.N., Administrator, Benedictine Hospital; Miss Helen Geneis, R.N., Director, Ulster County Public Health Nursing; Mrs. Jean Brodhead, R.N., In-service Director, Kingston Hospital; Mrs. Dorothea Little, R.N., Director of Nursing, Ellenville Community Hospital; Mrs. Elnora McSpirt, R.N., Associate Director of Nursing, Ulster County Infirmary; Mrs. Hazel Castle, R.N., Occupational Health Nurse, Rotron, Inc.; Mrs. Florence Irwin, R.N., Professor of Nursing Education, Ulster County Community College; Mrs. Sonja Stark, R.N., Supervisor, Respiratory Department, Benedictine Hospital; and Medical Advisory Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb, Sr., Director of both Agencies; Dr. John B. Plass, Director, Ulster County Chest Clinic and Dr. Hans Muller, Anesthesiologist, Kingston Hospital; and John M. Robbins, President of the Catskill Region TB and Respiratory Disease Association.

Further details concerning the Seminar Program and registration by invitation may be cleared with E. Robert Johnson, Foundation and Association Executive Director at TB-RD Headquarters, 124 Green Street, Kingston.

Mrs. Victor Pelletieri will serve as auctioneer for the miscellaneous sale. Members are reminded to bring items for this fund-raising event.

Clever Clutter Sale

Garbage goes to the dump, but what do you do with your 20-year-old coat? Who wants your 14-year-old son's wooden lace-up shoe? What can you do with that peculiar vase you've never used? Who wants that stack of books or your eighth philodendron?

Performing Arts of Woodstock wants it all to recycle in a Clever Clutter Sale Saturday at 10 a.m. at Deanie's Town House parking lot.

Donated, tax-deductible clutter may be deposited at LeFevre's house on the corner of Mosher and Clover, off Route 375, West Hurley, Thursday and Friday.

Little Change in Meat Prices

Consumers will find very little change in retail meat prices during the next few days, according to the Consumer and Market Information Service of the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets. There were wholesale price fluctuations in beef and especially in pork. However, changes were not great enough to affect the retail end.

Look for a good variety of beef items at attractive prices. For instance, frankfurters will range from 59 cents to 1.09, ground beef from 77 cents to 99 cents, ground chuck from 99 cents to $1.05, and in one area, liver and short ribs in the vicinity of 75 cents. Steaks will get a good play with sirloin steak from 1.35 to $1.89, club steak from $1.65 to $1.99, round steak from $1.29 to $1.89, cube steak from $1.68 to $1.89, rib steak from 98 cents to $1.40, and chuck steak as low as 85 cents to 98 cents.

Pork sales will feature ham shanks from 50 cents to 59 cents, ham butts from 60 cents to 75 cents, rolled sausage from 50 cents to 89 cents, bacon from 65 cents to $1.28, and semi-boneless ham from 69 cents to 85 cents in several areas.

As usual, lamb and veal will be scarce and expensive.

Abby Warns: Youthful 'Games' Can Lead to Pregnancy

DEAR ABBY: I nearly weep every time I read a letter from a pregnant teenager pleading for help. So few people know that the sex act need not be completed in order to impregnate a female.

I was a medic in the service. When I got married, my ward doctor loaned me a medical book that he's used in counseling young people. From that book I learned that when a man starts to get excited, a few drops of neutralizing fluid is released to neutralize any uric acid in the male urinary canal. It is nature's way of clearing a safe path for the delicate sperm cells to pass through at termination of the sex act.

Lab tests have shown that occasionally a few sperm cells are present in this fluid. It occurs most frequently in teenagers, since this is when the male is at his peak of fertility.

Abby, please tell young people, "Fooling around as little" can be just as dangerous as "going all the way."

I am a father and grandfather who is concerned about our youth, so if this information can help someone, you have my permission to change it any way you like so as not to offend anyone.

UNCLE STANELY
DEAR ABBY: I'll not change a word. I've written to thousands of frightened teenagers personally advising them of this fact. Thank you for giving me the opportunity to publicize this valuable — but little known — information more broadly. Of course the ideal means of preventing pregnancy is people know that the flesh is weak. I am not advocating "fooling around" but the pregnancies far outweighs the "crime."

DEAR ABBY: Concerning the expression "to gyp," someone having come from the word "Gypsy." My personal pet peeve is the phrase "he Jewed me down." And in this day of auctions, thrift shops, flea markets, etc., it is distressingly frequent.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Is it proper for a gentleman to smoke a pipe in the presence of a lady without first asking the lady is she minds?

CURIOUS
DEAR CURIOUS: It is not proper for a gentleman to smoke ANYTHING in the presence of a lady — or another gentleman — without asking if anyone minds. And the same goes for a lady.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 28-year old male with an unusual problem. I've worked at the same company for six years and have a good relationship with my boss, who is the president and owner of this company. The problem is the boss's daughter who also works here. She is very friendly to me, and every chance she gets, she straightens my tie or gives me a little hug. This girl is very attractive and I find it difficult to get my work done when she's around.

Last week, while I was standing at the copy machine, she came up behind me and put her hand in my pocket to make change for a soft drink!

I don't want to offend the boss's daughter, but I can't reciprocate her friendly gestures, so what do I do?

BOTHERED IN LOUISVILLE
DEAR BOTHERED: You poor kid! Pretend she is just another girl in the steno pool. Why should she be penalized because she's the boss's daughter?

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

SAVE ELECTRICITY THIS SUMMER...

It will cost more to air condition your home this summer. It's impossible to say how much more — that will depend on electric fuel adjustment charges, on the weather — and on you.

But you can make your summer more comfortable and cut down or avoid air conditioner use, too. Here's how.

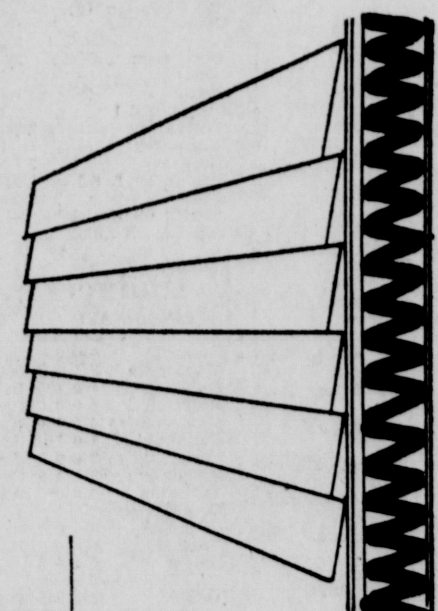

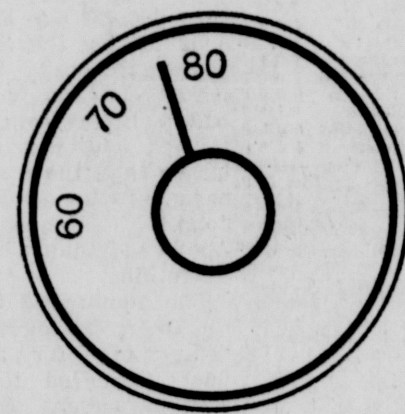

1. If you buy an Air Conditioner, be sure that you get the proper size for the area you need to cool. And shop around for an Air Conditioner with the highest efficiency rating. It will probably cost a little more to buy, but it will last longer and you'll save on operating costs. If the salesman cannot give you the efficiency ratings for the Air Conditioners you are interested in, you can easily figure them out for yourself — just divide the watts into the BTU's — (these are listed on the nameplate).

SAMPLE:

1,200 watts / 10,000 BTU's = 8.3

A rating of 7 or higher is considered desirable.

2. Keep your air conditioning temperature around 78°. Every degree less increases your usage of electricity about 5%.
3. Have your Air Conditioner serviced every year — before the cooling season.
4. If you are going out for the day — turn your Air Conditioner off, or buy a timer to turn your conditioner on shortly before you return.
5. INSULATE. Most people don't realize that a well-insulated house is not only easier to keep warm in winter but easier to keep cool in summer, too! Insulation pays for itself in fuel saved for heating and in electricity saved.
6. Open the windows at night and close them during the day. Storm windows are an added help in keeping out daytime heat.
7. An attic fan will keep your attic from getting very hot, and will pull cooler air up through the house.
8. If you are considering re-roofing your home, remember that light-colored shingles will reflect much of the sun's heat and help keep your house cooler.
9. Awnings or shades on the sunny side of the house will help keep inside temperatures down.

The Case of Grote vs. Froemming

NEW YORK (AP) — Gentleman of the jury, the defendant in this case is Mr. Jerry Grote, catcher, New York Mets. The plaintiff is Mr. Bruce Froemming, umpire, National League.

Mr. Grote is charged with venting his ire on Mr. Froemming by letting a pitch whizz past his glove in the general direction of Mr. Froemming's anatomy Monday night, ostensibly to protest his disagreement with the call on the previous pitch.

The alleged misdemeanor occurred in the eighth inning of the Mets' 2-1 loss to the Chicago Cubs. The bases were empty with two out when a 2-0 pitch, a fast ball—shot past Billy Williams—an in-fielder to the backstop. "He asked me where the previous pitch was," hollered Froemming, visibly upset. "I didn't answer him because every time I've told him in the past he's given me a sarcastic answer. Then, he made no attempt to go after the next pitch, an inside fast ball. He stayed in his crouch and never moved his glove. "If he was crossed up, the first thing he would have done was go out to the mound. It was just a bush minor league stunt, a class D stunt."

The first witness is Mr. Harry Parker, pitcher. "It was my fault. I crossed Jerry up and I'll take the full blame. He called for a curve and I threw a fast ball. The last thing in the world I'd try to do would be to hurt an umpire. But it's part of the game, catchers do get crossed up. It's the kind of predicament where he'll believe what he wants to believe."

"But I was having trouble seeing Jerry's signs all night and there were times when I actually asked him to repeat the signs. I crossed him up earlier, too, when he called for a slider and I threw a fast ball. Following Mr. Parker to the stand is Mr. Yogi Berra, manager. "Aaah, that's just Froemming's judgment. Williams is fast ball hitter. Why would we throw him a 2-0 fast ball?" Next witness is Mr. Williams, an innocent bystander who singled home both Chicago runs in the sixth inning following Don Kessinger's infield hit and a throwing error by Grote on Matt Alexander's sacrifice bunt. That was enough for Burt Hooton, who pitched a four-hit-

WHERE DOES IT HURT? — Mets' Catcher Jerry Grote rushes to the aid of home plate umpire Bruce Froemming after he was felled by a foul tip in third inning of Monday night's game. Froemming recovered, continued, and later charged Grote with deliberately failing to catch a pitch to protest the umpire's calls of balls and strikes. (UPI)

Philly Goes Wild

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The "City of Losers" went berserk Monday over a winner.

The city took a holiday as an estimated two million persons turned out to cheer and rain confetti on the Flyers, their first major sports champion in more than seven years.

The Stanley Cup-winning hockey team was given a raucous, jostling salute following its conquest Sunday of the Boston Bruins during a mid-city motorcade that resembled a cross between V-J Day and Mardi Gras.

"I've never seen anything like this before," said Mayor Frank L. Rizzo, who rode in the second auto in the 40-car caravan. "This shows you what can happen to a town with a winner. The only thing it might compare to is V-J Day."

The victory-hungry fans—wary from laboring through endless losing seasons with the baseball Phillies, football Eagles and basketball 76ers—took time off from work and school to overflow sidewalks and lean from office windows as the "Broad Street Bullies" bulled their way up Broad Street behind wedges of police on horseback and foot.

The 76ers last gave the city an opportunity to shout by winning the National Basketball Association title in 1967. The Eagles have not hit paydirt since 1960, and it has been 24 years since a pennant last waved for the Phillies.

The crush of people and heat on the confetti-littered streets accomplished something National Hockey League opponents had not been able to do all season.

Handsome Flyers' captain Bobby Clarke, who did not miss a game due to injury, was forced to retire from the six-mile motorcade when he became ill under the press of young fans—many of them girls—who leaped at his car to touch him.

It also took a special effort by police to protect the glittering Stanley Cup trophy, carried in the lead car, from the grasping hands of overzealous fans.

At one point, the open convertible containing Flyers' goalie Bernie Parent, named the most valuable player in the Stanley Cup playoffs, had to be pulled off to the side while additional police were called in to escort it.

It looks like the whole town turned out, one Flyers' official shouted as the bus carrying newsmen was besieged by hordes of fans waving champagne bottles and beer cans. Police said the crowds were larger than those at ticker tape parades honoring President John F. Kennedy and the Apollo astronauts in this city of 4.7 million.

The motorcade brought traffic to a standstill throughout center city for almost three hours and led to injuries to several persons. One teen-aged girl was knocked off her bicycle by a rearing police horse.

There were scattered incidents of property damage as car roofs caved in and traffic light standards collapsed under the weight of on-lookers.

The motorcade concluded with a city awards ceremony near Independence Hall at which singer Kate Smith led the crowd in a stirring chorus of "God Bless America" which, when substituted for the National Anthem before Flyer home games, has become a good luck theme.

NO. 1 — Flyers' goalie Bernie Parent shouts and signals to the crowd that his team is No. 1 during a parade for the Stanley Cup champions in Philadelphia Monday. Over 2 million people turned out to honor the Flyers. (UPI)

Butkus Retires

NEW YORK (UPI) — The received the Jet Rookie of the Year award.

A special citation was presented to Mel Hein who is retiring as supervisor of NFL officials. Simpson was named the winner of the Jack Horrigan Memorial On the Line award and Webb Ewbank, general manager of the Jets, received the Arthur Daley Memorial award for long and meritorious service to football.

There are two ways to retire, the 31-year old Butkus said, "either of your own free will or because you can't go on anymore. Unfortunately, that second one is true in my case. Although I love the game, it seems as if it's coming to an abrupt end."

Butkus, a No. 1 draft choice by the Bears in 1965, underwent knee surgery in 1970 and has been plagued by knee troubles ably the past few seasons. Prior to the operation, Butkus had been an all pro in seven of his eight seasons.

Butkus' retirement, although sudden, was not unexpected. Since the finish of last season, he had carried on a verbal battle with Halas, the Bears' owner, over whether or not he would still collect his $150,000 salary in the event he could no longer play.

Halas, who was not present at the dinner, had sent a message assuring Butkus last week he would collect his salary whether he played or not.

In addition to Butkus getting the Halas Award, other players receiving awards included Larry Csonka of the Miami Dolphins, Fran Tarkenton of the Minnesota Vikings, O. J. Simpson of the Buffalo Bills, Rich Glover of the New York Giants and Burgess Owens of the New York Jets.

Csonka was presented the Super Bowl of the Year award by his coach Don Shula. Tarkenton received the National Football Conference Player of the Year award, Simpson got the American Football Conference Player of the Year award, Glover got the Giant Rookie of the Year award and Owens

Three Issues

NEW YORK (UPI) — Three "Freedom Issues" were listed today by Bill Curry, president of the National Football League Players' Association, as the keys to preventing a pro football strike.

Although expressing optimism for a settlement, Curry pointed out that the three bargaining points from the players' point of view will be: 1. the rule which allows NFL commissioner Pete Rozelle to decide what compensation to award a team which has had a player jump it for another team; 2. neutral and impartial arbitration of non-injury grievances; and 3. abolishment of the reserve clause.

"I'm confident of a settlement although no meaningful progress has been made," said Curry. "I think the atmosphere has changed, regardless of personalities, regardless of egos. I think people realize they're going to have to sit down and solve whatever problems there are. That's the reason I'm optimistic."

"At the same time," Curry continued, "there are very, very substantial differences in our position. The negotiations will be most difficult but I'd be foolish to say two months in advance there's going to be a strike."

Differences BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI) — Jim Finks' resignation as general manager of the Minnesota Vikings after raising them from a so-so expansion team to a Super Bowl power apparently resulted from differences with President Max Winter, a top Viking official Atlanta will also get the top draft picks of the unnamed New Orleans franchise in 1975 and 1976, even though the new team took Walt Bellamy from the Hawks as one more condition of the Maravich trade.

Rosenfeld said the team was already examining several trade prospects. "Probably at the most nine, maybe 10, maybe eight, will be with us when we break camp," he said.

Besides Bellamy and Lantz, New Orleans wound up with the following players: Dennis Awrey, Chicago; Jim Barnett, Golden State; John Block, Kansas City-Omaha; E.C. Coleman, Houston; Barry Clemens, Cleveland; Lamar Green, Phoenix; Nate Hawthorne, Los Angeles; Ollie Johnson, Portland; Toby Kimball, Philadelphia; Steve Kuberski, Boston; Louie Nelson, Washington; Curtis Perry, Milwaukee; and Bud Stallworth, Seattle.

But New Orleans had to send guard Dean Meminger of the New York Knicks and six-year veteran Bob Kaufmann of Buffalo to the Atlanta Hawks in return for Maravich, who signed earlier as the team's charter player.

Red Hook Nine Locks Up Division II UCAL Title

KINGSTON Red Hook, one of the prime candidates for the at-large berth in the UCAL baseball playoffs, improved its chances Monday with a 2-1 victory over Coleman to become the winningest second place team in the league.

Red Hook, meanwhile, became the winningest team and locked up the Division II title with a 5-0 win over Onteora. In other games, Wallkill defeated New Paltz, 10-2; Marlboro dumped Highland, 9-5; Liberty beat Fallsburgh, 5-1; and Pine Bush thumped Ellenville, 11-3.

Jeff Purcell of Rondout and John State of Coleman matched four-hitters as each lasted the distance, but a Statesman error in the fourth leaked the winning run across.

Rondout took a quick lead in the home first when Jeff pitched strongly and Mark Mahoney singled home Tom Barry, but Coleman drew even in the third on Chris Bentley's RBI hit. The difference came when a single and a stolen base put RVC's Jay Schaeffer in scoring position and the Coleman infield kicked away Don Hastings's grounder.

Wallkill leapt forward past the Huges in the Division III standings as Miguel Mercado behind a two-hitter by Gregg Martin that ran the Raider record to 11-1. Martin fanned 14 Indians and allowed only three walks.

Jim Simmons tripled home a run to highlight a three-run fourth for the winners. Joe Seymour took the loss.

John Bunt and Jim Pagano each drove home a pair of runs to help Marlboro overcome the Big Blue. The Dukes built up an 8-2 lead which was enough of a margin to enable Randy Baglieri to last out the victory. Bunt and Frank Cricchio each doubled as Highland's Gary Schaefer got the loss.

Jerry Altbach, who made his mark on the mound with a perfect game his last outing, proved some pitchers can hit. Against Fallsburgh's Duane Hannold, Altbach slammed three hits worth four RBI's to things worse by committing eight errors.

Yaun, Newburgh Win Section 9 Golf

MONTGOMERY Rad Yaun, Liberty High's defending New York State individual champion, and Newburgh Free Academy dominated the Section 9 Golf Championships Monday at Stony Ford Golf Club.

Yaun, the finest high school player in the region, carded a two-over par 74 for a four-stroke edge over runnerup Seith Mencher of Ramapo. He had nines of 38 and 36 over the par 36-72 layout.

Newburgh, 9-0 on the regular season, captured the team championship with an aggregate of 326 and a six-stroke bulge over Ramapo to repeat as titlists.

Onteora High, paced by Jeff Buton and Bill Kennedy with 81s finished a solid third. A

J. Maneen, Coleman High's ace, a lot of people by finishing third," he said. "Buton and Kennedy did a fine job but we're not unhappy that Johnny Carlson didn't make the squad.

The 10-man squad selected for the state championships June 9-10 at All-American Sports City at Pine Plains includes:

Rad Yaun, Liberty, 71; Seith Mencher, Ramapo, 78; Steve Merritt, Washingtonville, 79; Kevin Golden, Newburgh, 79; A

Richie Karl Paces Northeast Qualifier

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — Richie Karl of Endicott captured medalist honors Monday with a 147 finish in the 36-hole local qualifying test here for the U.S. Open Championship.

Wayne Levi, a former Oswego State golfer, was second with 149.

Karl, 27, who tied for fifth in the Dean Martin Tournament last year, was out in 38 and back in 36, tying Stew Smith, John Taylor and Bill Gormley Jr. for the lead at the end of 18.

He then went 36-37, despite a double bogey six on the 390-yard 10th hole at the 7,062-yard McGregor Links Country Club.

Smith, the Edison club pro, turned in a 74-78-152 to tie for fourth with Joe Benevento of the Mount Snow Country Club in West Dover, Vt.

Only 16 of 52 who turned in scores managed to break 160 at the qualifying. There were eight spots in the sectional event up for grabs at McGregor.

The Open sectional qualifier is June 3 at Deal, N.J.

Goldbacks Rip Maroons, 6-1

KINGSTON The Kingston High Maroons took a break from the DCSL baseball wars to meet non-league foe Newburgh here Monday, but it didn't turn out to be a breather. The Goldbacks, now a 10-2 team, rode a five-hitter by Bruce Cimorelli and went away with a 6-1 victory.

KHS coach Ron Cole tried some new faces in the lineup, but it didn't help the defense. Starter Paul Lavatsch, who only allowed two hits in his four inning stint, gave up five walks and had four errors committed behind him and left the game trailing by five runs.

Kingston scored its run in the third on Keith Sweeney's triple and Rick Bell's single. That was all Cimorelli gave up as he fanned three and walked two en route to the win.

Kingston will host Ketcham Wednesday in a DCSL contest.

Sawyers Top Patriots

WICOPEE, a little insurance in the fifth when Martin singled home Bob Cargoli.

That gave the Sawyers a 7-0 lead, and it looked secure until Cole began passing out walks.

The Patriots took advantage of the free bases to score a pair in the bottom of the fifth and three more in the sixth.

But a leadoff triple to Bill Cravick in the seventh was home run to lift league-leading Ketcham over Beacon, 3-2.

Arlington got by Roosevelt, 6-3, and Poughkeepsie topped Lourdes, 9-3.

It took Saugerties only three innings to score five runs, but Cole, who was plagued with nine walks, needed a little more help to gain his third win in four decisions. He got the tie he needed in the fourth when George Redder delivered Steve Martin with a sacrifice fly plus

The New Orleans Saints of the National Football League Monday announced the signings of John Moon, a 6-foot 3, 265-pound, offensive tackle, and Clinton Tapper, a 6-1, 240-pound, offensive guard.

Speirs, who saw action as a pitcher, outfielder and first baseman, was All-Utility, along with Dennis Farrell of Brockport.

Speirs' .423 batting average was the highest in the SUNY. Whitaker's three homers led the conference and he had a season total of five. He also collected four doubles and knocked in 19 runs. Speirs had five doubles. Alberto batted .306, with one homer, eight doubles and one triple.

Four pitches were picked for the squad - Mike Planish of Oneonta; Glenn Woodrick of Oswego; Kevin Quinn of Albany State; and Garth Tymeson of Cortland. Planish led the conference in ERA with 0.70 runs per game.

Oneonta State was certified as the league champion with a record of 13 wins and one defeat. Brockport was runnerup at 14.5. New Paltz finished one game under the .500 mark with a 6-7 record.

Oneonta was also crowned the Northeast ECAC champions by defeating LeMoyne of Syracuse in the finals at Oneonta 10-9. The officers for the SUNYAC Baseball Association for 1975 in addition to Kramer are: Bob Burlingame, Albany, vice president; and Will Eschen, Potsdam, secretary.

Three Teams Alive

KINGSTON
The absence of a couple of OCS regulars didn't matter as John Sheehan stepped into third singles and came away with the 8-5 win over Arthur Schwartz, and the reserve doubles pair of Ben Hill and Scott Hastie beat Mike Quait and Jerry Marcus, 8-2.

Conrad Earnest beat Comet Andy Oretsky, 8-4 in first singles, and Bob Berkley took the second battle, 8-3 over Ira Steingart. In first doubles, Bill Harder and Russ Houldin stepped up to take Chris and Randy Dill, 8-0.

The Statesmen (2-4) didn't look like spoilers at Ellenville, but there was a little more to the fight that the final score indicated. The Ellies began by sending Lisa Green out as a sacrificial lamb in first singles. Statesman Bill Knott won it, 8-1. Then came two close tilts, and the Ellies won both. Tony Czerkas held off Pete Lyle, 9-7, and Chuck San Filippo outlasted Mary Lynn Bock, 13-11.

Ken Bazter and Randy Percoco made the advantage pay off with an 8-4 decision over John Farrell and Jim Kocis in first doubles that sealed the win. Jane Rosenstock and Allen Cohen won the last matchup, 8-6 over Coleman's Mike Haggerty and Rick Bushnell.

Oneonta plays Ellenville in the final match of the year for both teams. The winner will end up in second place unless Coleman can pin consecutive upsets on the Raiders.

At Saugerties Junior High School grades 7 and 8 will attend classes from 7:50-10:30 a.m.
Anyone having questions is asked to contact the building principal involved.

Event Scheduled

The second annual Dollars for Scholars fund raising event sponsored by Father Ginet Council 4369, Knights of Columbus will be held Saturday, May 25. Geraniums will be sold starting 9 a.m. at the Plank Road Lodge Porch, Main Street, Phoenicia. Profits from the sale will go to awards for Ontario High School graduating seniors who have shown outstanding scholastic achievement. Advance sales and delivery information may be obtained by contacting William E. Caton, grand knight.

Cardiology Session Set

POUGHKEEPSIE
An "evening of cardiology" with several heart specialists has been scheduled for 7:30 p.m., Wednesday at Vassar Hospital.
The program is being conducted by the Dutchess County Heart Chapter in conjunction with the Vassar Hospital Department of Medicine.
All speakers are cardiologists with Montefiore Hospital, New York City. Physicians are invited to attend.
Topics to be discussed are: "Clinical Assessment of Myocardial Performance," "Cardiogenic Shock: Its Recognition and Therapy," "Cerebral Heart Disease in the Adult," and "Coronary Arteriography and By-Pass Surgery: A Medical View."

Be careful with fire: There are babes in the woods.

And those baby animals and trees need a place where they can grow up strong and healthy. The forest is their home. When you come to visit, please don't burn it down.

Three State Hawks All-SUNY Picks

Two members of the New elected president of the Palitz State University varsity SUNYAC Baseball Association. Have been named to the 1974. The first-team selections are State University of New York Tom Whitaker, former Saugerties High ace, who doubled as an infielder and pitcher and second baseman Ben Alberto. Whitaker is a sophomore and Coach Pete Kramer was re-

Albino, who saw action as a pitcher, outfielder and first baseman, was All-Utility, along with Dennis Farrell of Brockport.

Speirs' .423 batting average was the highest in the SUNY. Whitaker's three homers led the conference and he had a season total of five. He also collected four doubles and knocked in 19 runs. Speirs had five doubles. Alberto batted .306, with one homer, eight doubles and one triple.

Four pitches were picked for the squad — Mike Plainish of Oneonta; Glenn Woodrick of Oswego; Kevin Quinn of Albany State; and Garth Tymeson of Cortland. Plainish led the conference in ERA with 0.70 runs per game.

Oneonta State was certified as the league champion with a record of 13 wins and one defeat. Brockport was runner-up at 14.5. New Paltz finished one game under the .500 mark with a 6-7 record.

Oneonta was also crowned the Northeast ECAC champions by defeating LeMoyne of Syracuse in the finals at Oneonta 10-9. The officers for the SUNYAC Baseball Association for 1975 in addition to Kramer are: Bob Burlingame, Albany, vice president; and Will Eschen, Potsdam, secretary.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Keep your lips sealed today. If you don't you're likely to let something out of the bag. You'll be far more generous in a situation that you intended to be. You want to make a good impression.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be sure goals you're aiming for are not too inflated and unrealistic. You'll be disappointed when they don't materialize.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) This is not a good day to rely too heavily on others to help you with personal problems.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You're counting a little too heavily on luck to get you through something today. You'll fare better if you rely on your skills.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your affairs should be running smoothly but it would be a mistake to take things for granted. A watchful eye is still needed.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If you make an error where you are concerned, it's bound to be a whopper. Concentrate, concentrate, concentrate.

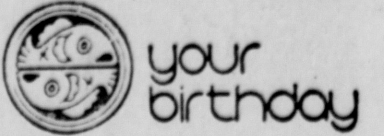

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You'll start out with good intentions but you'll be easily led astray. It's unlikely you'll do the productive things you intended to do today.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Don't behave too independently in a situation where you have a partner involved. It will take two heads to solve today's problem.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) It will prove to your benefit to closely supervise any service you're having performed if you want it finished properly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) There's a little too much of the gambler in you today. You're apt to take risks you normally wouldn't. Be careful.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You're prone to exaggerate a bit today to bolster your ego. Go ahead if you want to, but you're the only one who'll believe what you're laying down.

May 22, 1974

A sincere new relationship will result this year with one you'll meet through a friend. In other areas things will come too easy. You'll make less of them than you should.

We won't go so far as to say that every cloud has a silver lining, but will content ourselves with saying that most clouds do.

South ducks the first diamond as a matter of principle. He wins the continuation, plays out his ace and king of trumps and stops.

A cloud has appeared on the horizon, but if South works things out he will find its silver lining.

If East has to follow to five rounds of clubs South can collect 10 tricks before losing the lead. Also, it is quite likely that West started with 11 red cards. He had passed originally and then made a takeout double.

In any event there is no profit in giving up. South cashed dummy's ace and king of clubs and sure enough West shows out. Now he ruffs a club; enters dummy with the ace of hearts; ruffs another club; leads and ruffs his last diamond; ruffs dummy's last club and concedes the last two tricks. Poor East has to use his good trumps to ruff West's good hearts.

STAYING IN THE RACE — Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke tells a news conference that he will not withdraw from the Republican race for governor of California, despite a major setback in his effort to clear himself of federal perjury charges. Earlier U. S. District Court Judge Barrington D. Parker, in Washington, D. C., refused to dismiss perjury charges against Reinecke or to transfer his trial from Washington to the West Coast. $24 Billion Education Bill Gains Approval in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed a $24 billion education bill, but it faces many problems in conference with the House and when it reaches President Nixon's desk. The big issue in the conference will be how far Congress should go in trying to restrict busing for school desegregation purposes. The House measure passed in March virtually would end such busing. The Senate bill passed 81 to 5 Monday contains the same limitations as the House version, but it adds language continuing the authority of federal courts to order busing if necessary to meet equal rights requirements of the Constitution. President Nixon views the Senate antibusing provision as much too weak, deplores the failure to lump together most of the education aid money in a revenue-sharing package and assails as a "bureaucratic nightmare" provisions on how the money must be spent. He has said these objections would cause him to veto it. The principal limitation on busing in both the House and Senate bills is a policy declaration that no child should be bused beyond the next closest school from his home. The added Senate language would permit the courts to disregard this limitation. The House bill also contains a provision, deleted in the Senate, that would permit reopening of all previously decided busing cases and their redetermination in line with the new restrictions. Nixon has endorsed the House busing provisions strongly. The Senate bill would continue for four years the 1965 Elementary and Secondary Act, the biggest federal education program, and several other types of grants. The impacted areas program of aid to districts crowded because of federal installations, such as military bases, would be continued but cut back in some respects. However, it would not be reduced nearly as much as Nixon recommended. Also extended would be the program of aid for handicapped children, with sharply increased funds, and the adult education program.

Acupuncture Suit Filed

NEW YORK (UPI) — A prohibit acupuncturists who are not physicians from treating Monday filed suit in State Supreme Court challenging the constitutionality of a state ruling that only licensed doctors can practice the ancient Chinese medical art. The suit, filed by the American Association of Acupuncture Patients (AAP), seeks to bar the state Department of Education and the State Boards of Medicine and Dentistry from denying them access to treatment from "recognized specialists" who are not physicians. State Sen. Mary Anne Krupak, a former acupuncture patient, said a bill which would

Another Subpoena Threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is facing a new subpoena threat from the House Judiciary Committee unless he agrees to turn over tapes and other material relating to the dairy fund and ITT matters.

The White House promised to reply Monday to the committee's April 19 request for the material, but sent word last night it would respond later today. Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., has said he will seek a subpoena if the evidence is not forthcoming.

Nixon also must reply Wednesday to an earlier committee subpoena for 11 Watergate tapes.

Nixon's deepening tape troubles overshadowed today's resumption of the Judiciary Committee's impeachment hearings, now zeroing in on the crucial March 1973 stage of the Watergate cover-up.

The committee continuing in closed session despite White House demands that hearings be opened, was expected to hear today a tape of a March 13, 1973, presidential conversation with John W. Dean III and one-time White House chief of staff H.R. Haldeman.

The panel will then hear — today if time permits or otherwise on Wednesday — a tape of Nixon's March 21, 1973, conversation with Dean, his former White House counsel.

The March 21 conversation, during which Nixon and Dean discussed the payment of money to convicted Watergate burglar E. Howard Hunt to keep him quiet, is regarded by some members as the key to whether Nixon will be linked to the cover-up.

Also important to Nixon's chances of avoiding impeachment, however, is his response to the committee's subpoena on Wednesday, and any new ones that may be issued.

"It is going to be difficult for anyone to vote to exonerate him if he doesn't produce what we think is necessary," Rep. Tom Railsback of Illinois, an influential GOP member, told newsmen. "I've been trying to get that message through."

Nixon notified the committee two weeks ago he would not give it any more Watergate material. The committee has requested 76 Watergate tapes and is expected to issue subpoenas for the others as the need arises during the presentation of evidence.

Rep. Charles Wiggins, R-Calif., who keeps close ties to the White House, said he thought Nixon again might offer the committee edited transcripts instead of tapes, a course he followed April 23 in response to a committee subpoena for 42 Watergate conversations.

Wiggins added, however, that he hoped Nixon also would supply tapes of key parts of any conversation to help the committee understand them. He said tapes the committee has heard of conversations covered in the White House transcripts benefit Nixon.

The expletives deleted are much milder than anyone imagined and the general tone conveys an impression of casual, off-hand conversation, not the seemingly intense ones indicated by the transcripts, he said.

Is a Household Burglary Justified...

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The black-robed, silver-haired judge and the tan-attired, chunky lawyer argued in polite, legalistic terms: Is a household burglary ever justified, even if national security is at stake?

"Is there such a thing as a legitimate right to bust into somebody's house? I'm not aware of it," U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell said. Responded David I. Shapiro, attorney for former White House Special Counsel Charles W. Colson: "The President did have the authority to conduct such a search, he did in fact delegate it, and there were reasonable grounds to believe they were conducting a foreign intelligence search."

Gesell scheduled oral arguments today, the second of four days of hearings on pre-trial motions in the so-called Ellsberg burglary. Arguments late Monday and today were on the national security aspects of the case. "My concern is the wisdom of creating a precedent in which persons, on their notion of what is best for the country, bust into others' homes. I think this ought to be everybody's concern," Gesell said. Colson, former White House domestic affairs assistant John D. Ehrlichman and four others are scheduled to go on trial June 17 on charges of violating the rights of Dr. Lewis Fielding in the burglary of his Beverly Hills office over Labor Day, 1971.

Fielding, a psychiatrist, had treated Daniel Ellsberg, who gave reporters in June, 1971, copies of the Pentagon Papers on the origins of the Vietnam war. Gesell read into the record Monday a letter from President Nixon saying he did not know about the burglary until nearly two years later but that he had considered such disclosures as Ellsberg's leak to be "most critical to the national security."

But Rep. Wilber D. Mills, D-Ark., Ways and Means chairman, is a chief sponsor of the broadest health bill with Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass. Basically, the Kennedy-Mills

Both William S. Frates, attorney for Ehrlichman, and Shapiro said there were suspicions that Ellsberg had confided to his psychiatrist about national security matters.

Each lawyer for the six defendants answered "no" when Gesell asked if Nixon personally ordered the burglary.

Health Insurance Hearings Open

WASHINGTON (AP) — Un- plan would set up a national health insurance program as a Medicare program for the elderly. The program would be set up mainly through private insurance companies. All employers would have to offer basic insurance. Basic benefits of the two plans generally would be the same, although deductibles and co-payments would differ. The states cost-sharing features would differ. The Nixon plan would operate with insurance companies to cover low-income persons. The

Probation for Indian Leader

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — A Mohawk Indian leading an occupation of state land has been ordered to perform voluntary work during his two years' probation for draft evasion.

Thomas C. Cook, 26, of the St. Regis Indian Reservation in Franklin County, was ordered to perform work in the national interest.

U.S. District Court Judge James T. Foley sentenced Cook on Monday after finding him guilty April 5 in a nonjury trial of failure to report for military induction. Cook was granted youthful offender status.

Cook had contended that he was not subject to U.S. law because he was a citizen of the Mohawk Nation.
